CRICKET AND CARNIVAL

10 teams. 10 venues. 48 games. With the 2023 ICC ODI World Cup getting underway on Thursday, a look at key talking points

STOKES IN DOUBT FOR OPENER

New Zealand skipper Kane Williamson is set to miss the opener against England in Ahmedabad. As for England, captain Jos Buttler said Ben Stokes won't play due to a hip niggle

INDIA AS SOLO HOSTS

While India have co-hosted three WCs before (1987, 1996, 2011), it will be the first time they are hosting the tournament all by themselves. And the newest power centre, Ahmedabad, will play a key role as most marquee clashes will be held at the Narendra Modi Stadium

ROHIT & CO. LOOK TO END TROPHY DROUGHT

A decade has passed since India won an ICC trophy. As for captain Rohit Sharma, this WC is one trophy that has eluded him. Both the captain and the team would be itching to win at home. If the trend from the past 13 years continue (home team winning WCs), they might have a chance

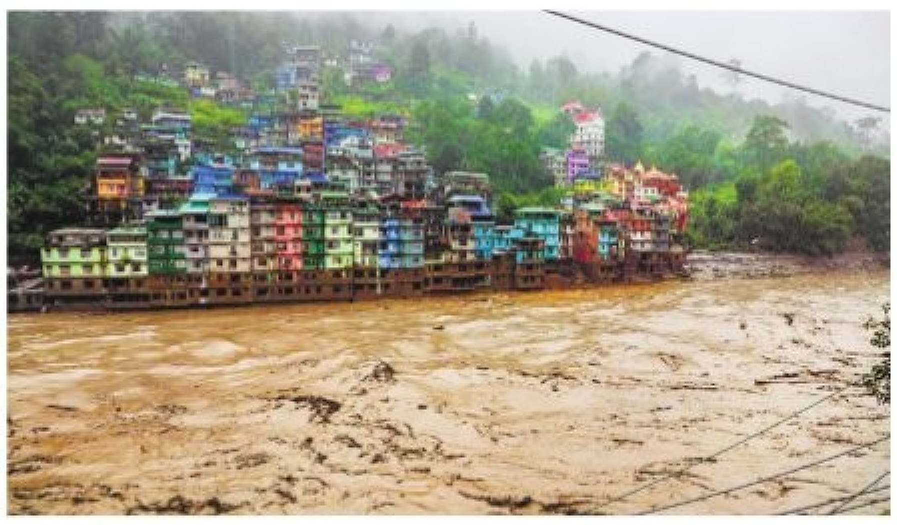
10 DEAD, 81 MISSING IN SIKKIM FLOOD

Search on for 22 Armymen after flash floods in Teesta wreak havoc

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR & JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ Guwahati/New Delhi



The flooded Teesta river in north Sikkim on Wednesday after a sudden cloudburst over the Lhonak Lake | PTI

FLASH floods triggered by a cloudburst over the Lhonak Lake in North Sikkim in the wee hours of Wednesday left at least 10 people dead and 81 others missing, including 22 soldiers. A massive search is underway to locate the missing people.

Earlier in the day, there were reports of 23 missing soldiers. One of them was subsequently rescued and is stable, a defence ministry statement said.

The flooded Teesta either damaged or washed away over a dozen important roads and bridges. North Sikkim remained cut off following the calamity.

The Teesta flows through Sikkim and West Bengal before entering Bangladesh. Prime Minister Narendra Modi spoke to Chief Minister Prem Singh Tamang and assured all support.

In a statement, the Sikkim State Disaster Management Authority said after a Glacial Lake Outburst Flood in parts of Lhonak Lake, the water level rose with very high velocities downstream along the Teesta basin and caused severe damage in Mangan, Gangtok, Pakyong and Namchi districts.

The Chung-thang dam was also damaged. Release of water from the dam led to a sudden increase in water level by 15-20 ft. A defence ministry statement said Army vehicles parked at Bardang near Singtam got trapped in the slush.

Glacial Lake Outburst Flooding occurs due to breaches in glacial lakes as they suddenly release huge amounts of water into nearby streams and rivers. There are 2028 glacial lakes and water bodies measuring more than 10 hectares in the Himalayan region. Of them, over 200 glacial lakes are vulnerable to outburst, according to an estimate.

The National Disaster Response Force, State Disaster Response Force and Border Roads Organisation are among agencies deployed in the affected areas in Sikkim.

Over 11,000 people have been affected. The authorities set up some relief camps.

ED arrests AAP MP Sanjay Singh in liquor scam

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Wednesday arrested Aam Aadmi Party leader and Rajya Sabha MP Sanjay Singh in connection with a money laundering case linked to the Delhi excise policy. The arrest was recorded after a day-long search at his residence.

The ED officials reached Singh's North Avenue residence early on Wednesday morning. The MP was questioned for hours before being taken into custody.

Singh is considered the second-most powerful politician in AAP after party supremo and Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal. He is the third AAP leader to be arrested by a central agency. Before him, Manish Sisodia was arrested earlier this year in the excise policy case and Satyendar Jain last year in connection with a separate money laundering case.

Singh's name came up after businessman Dinesh Arora revealed that ₹32 lakh was paid to him to tweak the Delhi liquor policy. Sources said Singh facilitated a meeting between Arora and Sisodia, who was the excise minister then.

HAL delivers first twin-seater Tejas to Indian Air Force

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Indian Air Force (IAF) got its first twin-seater Light Combat Aircraft (LCA) Tejas from Hindustan Aeronautics Ltd (HAL) here on Wednesday.

Terming the development a boost to self-reliance in the defence sector, Minister of State for Defence Ajay Bhatt said, "The development of LCA Tejas has also brought about a shift in our approach to defence procurement. It has demonstrated that India has the talent, knowledge and capability to design, develop and manufacture world-class fighter jets."

He said the LCA Tejas project has been an inspiring saga of relentless dedication and innovation. "The inception of LCA Tejas aircraft was rooted in the dream of equipping the Indian Air Force with a world-class indigenous fighter aircraft," Bhatt said.

The development of Tejas spurred the growth of a robust defence and aerospace industry in India, besides creating opportunities for countless SMEs, research institutions, and skilled workers, who have contributed to various aspects of the project, he said.

LPG price cut by ₹100 for Ujjwala users

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE government on Wednesday cut the price of an LPG cylinder by ₹100 for Ujjwala beneficiaries as it gets set to face voters in five states for assembly elections before the end of this calendar year.

This is the second price cut in two months by the Centre. In August, it slashed the price of each cylinder by ₹200 for all consumers. An LPG cylinder for an Ujjwala beneficiary in Delhi will now cost ₹603 while the non-subsidised price is ₹1,103. Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh, Mizoram, Chhattisgarh, and Telangana are slated to go to polls within the next couple of months.

Last month, the government extended the Ujjwala scheme to 75 lakh more consumers for over three years. With this addition, the total beneficiaries would come to 10.35 crore.

"The Centre has approved an increase in subsidy amount for Pradhan Mantri Ujjwala Yojana beneficiaries from ₹200 to ₹300 per LPG cylinder. A lot of development work has been done for the welfare of women and the poor in the past nine years," said Anurag Thakur, Union I&B minister.

According to Emkay Global, the move will cost the exchequer ₹3,600 crore annually. Also, it won't have any impact on oil marketing companies as the subsidy is directly given to the Ujjwala Yojana beneficiaries by the government.

"WORK in progress" boards greet those visiting the offices of ministers at Vidhana Soudha. For, renovation of some ministers' offices is still going on although the Congress government came into being four months ago.

The renovation work includes changing of floor tiles, redoing the interiors, painting and getting new furniture.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, his deputy DK Shivakumar and a few ministers took oath in the second week of May and the rest by May-end. Soon after the oath-taking ceremony, the ministers were allotted offices in Vidhana Soudha and Vikas Soudha. Most of them occupied their offices in June.

However, Mines and Geology and Horticulture Minister SS Mallikarjun is yet to move into his office. The office space allotted to him on the third floor of Vidhana Soudha is being renovated. An official from the Department of Personnel and Administrative Reforms (DPAR) told TNIE that Mallikarjun was allotted a room nearly four months ago. "He is now getting it renovated by a private contractor and not from the Public Works Department (PWD)," he said.

Tamil flavour in Malaysian kabaddi team at Asian Games

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Hangzhou

IT'S not a surprise to hear a smattering of Tamil when Mayalsian men's team play at the Asian Games. That's because as many as 10 players are Tamil Malaysians. "We have 10 Malay Tamilians in the side," team manager Padmanathan Engaittraman told this daily. "They were all born in Malaysia, all of them are either 3rd or the 4th generation."

In fact, kabaddi, according to Engaittraman, travelled to Malaysia from the south of India. "The people who came to Malaysia as workers during the British rule brought kabaddi with them," he said. "They used to play kabaddi in remote areas. After their work, as a sport, kabaddi was there. They used to call it sadugudu."

While that was for recreation, Malaysia began taking interest in kabaddi around the turn of the millenium. Though they need to improve, Malaysia now consider it a 'medal tally sport'. "We started kabaddi in 2000. It's now grown so much that we consider it a medal tally sport. We started with a grassroots programme in schools at the U-12 level. We now have the sport being played in universities and clubs." In fact, the team had a 60-day training camp in Puducherry before the Games. "In Pondicherry, the chief minister, N Rangaswamy, had supported us. We had stayed in the government guest house and got the chance to play against teams from the Sports Authority of India as well as local sides."

As to why it's hugely popular among the Malay Tamilians, Engaittraman, who himself has his roots in south India, said: "When they study in Tamil schools, they give importance to traditional games like silambam and kabaddi. One day in a week, you have to pick between silambam and kabaddi and other traditional games. Kabaddi is already at the Asian Games so there's a propensity to pick kabaddi."

HC IMPOSES ₹5L COST ON GOVT FOR LACK OF RESPONSE

Directs urban secy to be present in court

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday imposed an exemplary cost of Rs 5 lakh on the state government, while directing the urban development department secretary to be present before court on the next date of hearing, for not filing a response to the public interest litigation on the lack of public toilets in Bengaluru.

A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice Krishna S Dixit passed the order after hearing the petition filed by the Letz Kit Foundation, an NGO, for which the state government has not filed a response, though it was pending for nearly three years.

The senior counsel representing the petitioner pointed out that the state government had not complied with the directions issued by the court on August 8. The government advocate sought time, saying he is yet to receive instructions from the government to file a response. The court imposed cost of Rs 5 lakh on the government, which is to be deposited within two weeks, saying this is a fit case to impose cost. The court also made it clear that the government is at liberty to recover the cost from the erring officials. When the additional government advocate sought a reduction in the cost, Justice Krishna Dixit orally observed that he wanted to impose Rs 25 lakh but the Chief Justice wanted to be liberal and lenient.

On August 8, the court expressed surprise as there was no response from the state government placed on record, by way of either an affidavit or a statement of objection, though the petition was pending before the court for nearly three years.

"The issue in the present petition is of serious concern to the public, and particularly to the residents of Bengaluru city. The state government can neither shut its eyes to this situation nor keep its mouth mum. The government also owes certain responsibility towards the residents of Bengaluru, particularly when the issue relates to public hygiene and basic facilities for the residents, as such, we direct the state government to file its response within three weeks," the court had observed in its August 8 order, but no response was filed by the state government.

EATING IN METRO TRAIN COSTS MAN ₹500

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

CLOSE on the heels of a popular Cyprus YouTuber mocking the rules of Bengaluru Metro last week and having an FIR booked against him, a commuter who chomped on packed food inside a Metro train and posted it on social media, was caught by the Metro security team.

The commuter, in his twenties, violated the rule banning consumption of food inside the Metro.

A non-cognizable report was filed against him at Jayanagar police station on Tuesday evening, and he was fined Rs 500, said Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) officials. Consumption of food inside trains or on platforms is not permitted under Bengaluru Metro rules.

The offender, Sunil Kumar, and his friends work at a prominent jewellery outlet in Jayanagar and regularly board the Metro at Sampige Road Station to get to work, said a source.

A 40-second video Kumar had circulated a few days ago on social media platforms shows him smiling as he eats, with a voice over, probably one of his friends, calling him "an uneducated fool" in a mocking tone. Two of his friends shot him eating.

Let off with a warning

"Using surveillance camera recording, he was caught and made to pay Rs 500. An NCR was booked against him and his friends for violating Metro rules," said an official. A top cop said he had been let off with a warning.

A S Shankar, executive director, Operations & Maintenance, BMRCL, said, "This is a very rare incident as commuters generally adhere to rules. The trio deboarded a Metro train at 9.30am at Jayanagar on Tuesday. Waiting security personnel took them to the police station nearby. They were detained for half a day."

Shankar added that security personnel had observed the recording of the video across Metro stations, and identified the offenders.

School vehicles packed with kids, authorities callous

PURAN CHOUDHARY
@Bengaluru

IT is common to spot buses, vans, or autos overcrowded with children during school hours, in the city. These vehicles violate traffic rules, putting children's safety at risk. However, this is often overlooked by authorities.

The Bangalore City Traffic Police in August registered 79 cases of vehicles carrying more students than permitted. These figures are only for the yellow-coloured officially registered school buses, however many private vans and autos openly flout rules.

The guidelines for school buses or vans specify the 1 to 1.5 ratio rule for children below the age of 12. If a school bus is 45-seater then it can carry only 50 students. However it is seen that not many follow these rules, said police sources.

As per BTP statistics, 42 violations were registered until May 2023. 1,906 individuals were booked for exceeding the number of children in 2022, and 1,750 cases were recorded in 2021. However, many more vehicles are plying, which goes unrecorded, as they are private entities, the police said.

Srinivas Shenoy Y, Deputy Chief Traffic Warden, BTP, said, "Overloading children in vehicles can be dangerous. Such vehicles have no control over the brakes and risk major accidents." He added that enforcement agencies need to consistently do surprise checks and not just conduct drives.

Parents in the city opined that the rules and directions are only on paper and the schools can only be held responsible for school-authorised vehicles, not private autos or vans. Shakeel M, President, Voice of Parents said, "It's not like these safety hazards are happening in the dark. Traffic police can be present near schools and fine vehicles as and when they arrive." He added that the authorities need to be proactive about child safety. On the other hand, Shashi Kumar, general secretary, Karnataka Associated Management of School (KAMS) said only private unaided schools and their buses come under the scanner, "The rules should be equally applied to all."

Don't dig up TenderSure roads, DKS tells officials

ENS @Bengaluru

DEPUTY CM and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar on Wednesday directed BBMP officials to ensure that TenderSure roads are not dug up since crores of rupees have been spent on them and provisions to lay cables have been made.

After inspecting drainage work next to the Ayyappa Swamy Temple in Vasanthnagar, the widening of Jayamahal Palace Road, and the underground cable installation work there, the DyCM said, "Crores of rupees have gone into TenderSURE works. No one should further dig up TenderSure roads. We have made provision to lay cables from the side drains, but no one is using them. Wherever we have established this system, it should be used legally. Cables should be laid underground to improve the beauty of Bengaluru."

Meanwhile, Shivakumar said he would inspect the Outer Ring Road and discussions will be held to address traffic problems. It may be recalled that the ORR witnessed unprecedented traffic snarls on September 27. Instructing corporation officials to complete pending works as soon as possible, he said incidents of water logging should not happen again. "The public can complain to officials about roadblocks and potholes. Both BBMP and the police will work together to repair the potholes. This work needs to be done on a priority basis," he added.

Regarding pending bills of BBMP contractors, he said, "Officials have been informed to complete 352 package works costing Rs 5,000 crore under the Nagarothana grants. Investigation of the works will also continue and a report will be submitted. The government has released a grant of Rs 675 crore for bill payment. About 50-75 per cent of the bills are cleared and a Rs 432-crore BBMP grant will also be released. The remaining balance will be paid."

Travelling bus stop to highlight mobility gaps in city

BENGALURU: To highlight mobility gaps in Bengaluru, 'Alli Serona', a women's collective, has set up a 'mobile bus stop installation'. Created by women from the informal sector, the installation will pass through Hosanagar and Seegahalli, Thursday Sante Area, and Byrasandra, through October. Resembling a scaled-down bus stop, it will have a ticket counter, seating, space for waiting, and newsstand. "Through this installation, we have created a platform with and for women in the informal workforce, to increase their participation in decision-making for improved public transport services for all," said Suresha Kantha B, a community coordinator from the Association for Promoting Social Action for the Jayanagar constituency. The bus stop will be installed on October 5-7 behind Baiyappanahalli Metro Station, Hosanagar, from where it will move to Seegehalli and Priyanka Nagar on October 9-10, at Thursday Sante Area on October 16-18, and at Byrasandra on October 20-21.

71.85% stray dogs in B'luru sterilised, BBMP terms it a 'big achievement'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN what could result in a possible reduction in the rate of growth in the stray canine population in Bengaluru, up to 71.85 percent of the 2.79 lakh stray dogs have been sterilized, BBMP has announced, while terming it a "big achievement". Of the strays sterilized, 1,65,341 are male and 82,757 female.

Dr KV Trilok Chandra, Special Commissioner for Health, BBMP, under the jurisdiction of which the animal husbandry department falls, released the report on the survey of dogs under the BBMP's jurisdiction. He said a total of 2,79, 335 stray dogs were found in the eight zones of the corporation in the survey conducted in July.

In the 2019 stray dog survey, it was estimated that there were 3.10 lakh and 51.16 percent of stray dogs were sterilized.

"The rate of sterilization of stray dogs has increased by 20%, which resulted in a 10 percent reduction on stray dogs in the BBMP jurisdiction," said Dr Chandra.

He said a survey of stray dogs was conducted for a month in July by adopting the method recommended by National Action Plan for dog mediated Rabies Elimination' (NAPRE) for the successful implementation of the measures, and to formulate appropriate plans to tackle the stray dog menace and controlling their population. "The Palike will call tenders for the five-in-one vaccine, which protects against five viruses including Canine Distemper Virus, Canine Parvovirus, Rabies and others. This is the first in India wherein such an initiative has been taken up in Municipality limits," he said.

BBMP Special Commissioner for Health Dr KV Trilok Chandra releases a survey of dogs under the Palike's jurisdications on Wednesday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

A total of 100 surveyors and 15 supervisors, including BBMP Animal Husbandry Department officers and staff, Animal Husbandry and Veterinary Services Department, and Bengaluru City District paratechnical staff, conducted the survey. The four divisions of BBMP namely residential areas, slums, commercial areas, and lakes were divided into 6850 microzones of 0.5 sq km area, of which 20% random samples, i.e. 1,360 microzones, were selected for the survey. The official explained that the stray dog survey was carried out systematically in collaboration with 50 ward-wise teams.

05th October: Space is a strange place. If you're like me, then you were taught at school that it is 'empty'. Nothing could be further from the truth. It's jammed with all sorts of things from particles of light to a mysterious substance called dark matter. We've never seen it, but we believe it's there all the same!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The past few weeks seem to have been exhausting, but perhaps more because you've been putting your energy in the wrong direction than as a result of any real increase in your duties. However, you always have to bear in mind that it's very important to learn from your mistakes.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
You are bound to receive a great deal of help from behind the scenes, even if you don't know what's happening. The fact is that you will not be aware of the nature or existence of such discreet assistance until next week - or even next year! There's no hurry!

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
There is a chance of a fresh start at work within a few days. The opportunity is slight, to be sure, but if you make the right moves now, events should eventu-ally work out in your favour. Socially, the outlook is still bright, though not outstanding!

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
Perhaps you need to set an example - and maybe you should take the initiative. You may still have to be discreet in your usual manner, but you must raise various issues for discussion. Deal with joint finances today, and remember that property deals are strongly signified.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
Don't give up or give in to feelings of inadequacy. Other people may try to undermine you, or, at least, that is how it seems. Perhaps you would do best to try to see the grain of truth in all criticism, rather than closing your ears to uncomfortable suggestions.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There's no escape from hard work today. Even social and pleasurable pursuits could require extra effort. However, those of you who pulled your weight yesterday, and the day before, will soon find that you have spare time for socialising and indulging your favourite whims.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Various celestial challenges are on their way. It seems that other people have made unfair emo-tional demands in the immediate past, but very soon you'll be able to understand their motives, and that should give you ample cause for celebration.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Planetary activity in the realms of your chart relating to work and money should have brought suitable remuneration for your efforts. Each and every event in your romantic life is to be treasured, by the way, no matter how small. And aside from that, you may press on with practical matters as fast as you can.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Do try to finalise any major issues now. Mars has been stirring you up for so long, that you may have become used to its slightly aggressive energies, but you should realise that you have only a few more weeks during which it will be so easy to get your own way.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You can put the record straight and prove just how eager, caring and kind you really are. Don't panic - you won't actually have to do anything. Others should be content in the knowledge that, where you're concerned, it's the thought that counts.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
The cosmos is a wild place, but you have survived pretty well so far. Today is a suitable time to re-orientate yourself and lower your emotional armour, taking a peep at the world around you. You never know - you may like what you see. You might even spot a prospective new partner.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There has been a spot of muddle recently, but the position should soon improve quite drastically. I'm not saying that there won't be any further confusion, but at least you'll be responsible for your own success or failure. That means you'll be able to take all the necessary steps.

Mandya man gets life, 7-yr RI for killing sex worker

Girisha killed the woman in a Mysuru logde over a decade ago; Court slaps fine of Rs 40,000, Rs 35,000 to be paid to victim's child

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court sentenced a man from Kommerahalli in Mandya district to life imprisonment for murdering a sex worker in Mysuru over a decade ago, and pay a fine of Rs 30,000. The court also sentenced him to rigorous imprisonment for seven years and fine of Rs 10,000 for robbing her before committing the murder. All sentences shall run concurrently, the court said. The court directed K C Girisha to surrender before the sessions court within 45 days. Of the total fine amount, Rs 35,000 is be paid to the child of the deceased woman, and the remaining Rs 5,000 to the state government.

Allowing partly the appeal filed by the state government against the acquittal of the accused from charges of rape, robbery and murder by a sessions court in Mysuru, a division bench of Justice HB Prabhakara Sastry and Justice Anil B Katti confirmed the order of acquittal on rape charges, but sentenced him to life imprisonment for murder, and rigorous imprisonment for robbery.

"According to the prosecution, the accused took the deceased to the lodge as a customer. She accompanied him, treating him as her customer. Evidence does not say as to how long prior to her death, the deceased was subjected to forcible sex. Merely because the deceased was said to be a sex worker, it is not safe to conclude that the accused had subjected her to rape prior to committing her murder. Though the prosecution was able to establish guilt for offences punishable under Sections 302 and 397 of the IPC, it failed to prove guilt for the offence punishable under Section 376 IPC," the court noted.

On September 18, 2010, when the victim was soliciting customers on SR Road in Mysuru, Girisha brought her to a lodge abutting the Sub-Urban Bus Stand in an autorickshaw.

Introducing themselves as husband and wife visiting a temple, they made necessary entries in the lodge register and took a room. They had food and drinks served to the room that night. After having sex, Girisha strangled the woman with her saree, and took her gold ear studs, a cellphone and some cash, and quietly left the lodge. After the murder came to light, police investigated the matter and filed a chargesheet.

The VII Additional Sessions Judge in Mysuru acquitted the accused on April 25, 2016.

Can't reexamine block orders to X: Centre to HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Central Government on Wednesday orally informed the Karnataka High Court that there are no changed circumstances to reexamine the blocking orders issued to X Corp, formerly Twitter.

The senior counsel, representing the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology, made an oral submission to that effect before the division bench of Justices G Narendar and Vijaykumar A Patil during the hearing of the appeal filed by X Corp, questioning the dismissal of its petition by the single judge against the multiple blocking orders issued by the Centre.

The court adjourned the appeal to November 9 for the hearing.

On September 20, the court orally sought a response from the Centre whether it is willing to reexamine its blocking orders issued to X Corp.

This was after senior counsel, representing X Corp, submitted that the blocking orders were not reasoned.

Those orders can be sent for review by the Secretary of the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology, he had pleaded.

Soon, rules to monitor engg college seat intake

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

"TO curb the unscientific intake in professional engineering courses by private universities, the state government is contemplating amending the technical education rules. Also, rules will be framed to curb the concentration of the private universities in Tier 1 cities", said Higher Education Minister Dr MC Sudhakar on Wednesday.

He was addressing the media on the sidelines of the workshop — 'Enhancing Employability in Polytechnic Education'.

The development has its roots in a letter written by Sudhakar to the All-India Council for Technical Education (AICTE) on September 14, urging them to introduce strict rules for starting and closing engineering colleges and courses, especially in private universities in Tier-1 cities. The Council replied that it initiates the process of giving a nod to new institutions and new engineering courses only after the applicant submits the stamped receipt by the state government along with a no-objection certificate from the affiliating body.

Sudhakar said they are exploring the options to amend the rules in technical education and looking at other legal modalities to prevent private universities from increasing the seat intake and coming up with new engineering courses unscientifically. As a result of the high intake, students do not become employable. The new rules will also help address the problem of uncontrolled growth of engineering colleges in Tier 1 cities, he added.

On the new curriculum drafted for polytechnic programmes in 2020 under the previous government, Sudhakar said there has been mixed response about the new curriculum and it will be taken up for discussion.

He met CM Siddaramaiah on Wednesday to finalise the committee for State Education Policy. He later said a chairman will be appointed by the chief minister and the committee formed soon.

Seven BMTC officials forge signatures, cause ₹17cr loss

ENS @ Bengaluru

SEVEN BMTC officials were accused of awarding contracts to undeserving firms by forging signatures of senior officials. The police arrested BMTC's chief traffic manager (commercial).

BMTC Assistant Security and Vigilance Officer CK Ramya filed a complaint with the Wilson Garden police on Monday, against the seven — Sreeram Mulkwan, Shyamala S Maddhodi, Mamatha BK, Anitha T, Gunasheela, Venkatesh R and Prakash Koppal. They were working at BMTC Central Office in Shanthinagar, and the alleged fraud took place between March 9, 2020, and October 2, 2023. It is alleged the officials forged the signatures of senior officers by getting colour photocopies of the same. The complainant stated that BMTC suffered losses to the tune of Rs 10.5 crore and Rs 6.91 crore in two separate cases. DCP-Central HT Shekhar told TNIE the Wilson Garden police arrested the main accused Mulkwan. "Mulkwan was chief traffic manager (commercial), BMTC Central at the time of the fraud. He forged the signature of the managing director on four of the files," the DCP said.

BREAKING DOWN THE WAITING GAME

QUICK DIVORCE THROUGH MUTUAL CONSENT

G K BHAVANA

Section 13B of the Hindu Marriage Act allows a husband and wife to agree to get a divorce. But there's a rule that says they must wait for six months before the divorce procedures is completed and order is obtained. This waiting time is meant for them to re-think things over and make sure they really want to end their marriage.

Sometimes, marriages break down because the couple can't get along, there's cruelty, abuse, or they simply can't live together anymore. In such cases, they may choose to peacefully live apart and later ask the court to legally end their marriage.

The idea behind this new change in law is to help couples who are in mental stress and trauma and willing to mutually end their marriage. Thus, the change helps to end the marriage quickly and without a lot of hassle. However, there's a condition that both parties must be Hindus mainly because the concept is brought a change under Hindu marriage Act.

Initially the revolution in reduction of waiting period was brought about by the Supreme Court of India when in certain special circumstances the court can use its special powers under Article 142(1) of the Indian Constitution to make a fair decision and end the marriage quicker. In a recent court case, it was decided that in some situations, the six-month waiting period can be skipped. The court considers factors like how long the couple has been married, how long they've been apart, whether there are children, and if both parties agree to the divorce.

The waiting period is there to give couples time to think, but if there's no chance of making things better, the court can skip it. This kind of divorce is faster and less expensive than a regular one, and it's a way out of a difficult situation for many people.

In the end, it's up to the couple to decide if they want to stay together or get a divorce.

SECTION 13B OF THE HINDU MARRIAGE ACT

Section 13B of the Hindu Marriage Act is about a special way to get divorced when both husband and wife agree. Here's how it works:

Agreement to Divorce: Both husband and wife must agree that they want to end their marriage. They also need to have been living separately for at least a year, and they can't live together anymore. They also should agree on other related issues such as what are the terms of maintenance/alimony to be paid and where the child if any will be living/studying, what are visiting rights and who pays the child's Expenses.

Waiting Period: After they agree and ask for a divorce, as per law they need to wait for six months before it becomes final/official. This waiting period is like a cooling-off time.

Court Decision: If, after six months, they still want to get divorced, the court will listen to them and check if everything is true. If the court is satisfied that the marriage has indeed broken down, they will grant the divorce. The divorce will be official from that date.

While deciding a case in 2021, the siting Judge explained that Section 13B of the Hindu Marriage Act is designed to make it easier for couples to divorce when they both agree. It's not meant to harm the idea of marriage. This law helps avoid long and unnecessary legal battles when a marriage can't be saved.

It was also mentioned that there's a six-month waiting period in case the couple changes their minds and wants to give their marriage another chance. If they still want to divorce after those six months, the court will make it official.

So, this law is about making divorce smoother for couples who agree, but it also gives them time to be sure about their decision.

REASONS FOR SKIPPING COOLING OFF PERIOD IN DIVORCE

In a certain case, the Supreme Court allowed a request to skip the waiting period in mutual consent divorce. They did this after thinking about the following things:

How Long Were They Married?: They looked at how long the couple had been married.

Did They Stay Together?: They also checked how long the couple lived together as husband and wife.

Time Apart: They thought about how much time the couple had spent apart.

Legal Process Time: The court considered how long the divorce case had been going on.

Other Legal Stuff: They checked if there were any other legal matters between the couple.

Chance of Getting Back Together: The court thought about whether there was any chance that the couple might get back together.

Children: They looked at whether the couple had kids together.

Agreement: Lastly, they wanted to be sure that the couple had freely and willingly agreed to all the terms of the divorce, like alimony, child support, and custody arrangements.

COURTS HAVE THE POWER TO SKIP THE WAITING PERIOD

The courts have the power to skip the waiting period mentioned in Section 13B of the Hindu Marriage Act. They can do this under Article 142(1) of the Indian Constitution. This article allows the Supreme Court to make decisions to bring complete justice in any case before it.

This power has been used to help couples who want to end their marriage under Section 13B of the Hindu Marriage Act and don't want to wait. It's a way to make things easier for them.

In an another case, the Supreme Court explained that Hindu marriages are seen as sacred and long-lasting. But they also said that sometimes, marriages break down completely, and it's not good to make people wait when there's no chance of fixing things.

So, they use Article 142(1) to help those couples and skip the waiting period. But this is only done if the court is sure that the marriage is beyond repair, and it's the best option for everyone involved. They don't do it just because someone asks.

WHAT DOES "IRRETRIEVABLE BREAKDOWN OF MARRIAGE" MEAN?

Irretrievable breakdown of marriage is a term used to describe a situation where one or both spouses can't or won't live together as husband and wife anymore. This means they've given up on their duties and responsibilities as a married couple, and there's no hope of them coming back together.

The idea of an irretrievable breakdown of marriage is discussed in a report called Law Commission Report No.71 about the Hindu Marriage Act, 1955. This report talks about how sometimes marriages reach a point where they just can't be fixed.

MODERN APPROACH TO BROKEN MARRIAGES

In a certain case, the Delhi High Court said that it's not practical or fair to force people to stay married when their relationship is completely broken, and there's no chance they'll live together as husband and wife.

Similarly, in another case, the court said that it's important to balance respect for marriage with the reality of a marriage that has totally fallen apart. They mentioned that in recent years, the courts have become more understanding of this situation and are willing to grant divorces even when, in the past, they might not have.

A WORLDWIDE CONCEPT

The idea of a marriage breaking down, rather than just blaming one person, has been accepted in many countries around the world. The big question was whether divorce should only happen if someone did something wrong, or if it could also happen when the marriage itself was just not working.

For example, in New Zealand, they changed their laws in 1920 to allow couples to get divorced if they'd been separated for three years or more. This change gave the courts the power to decide if a divorce was the right thing to do.

In general, the idea is that if a marriage has stopped working for a long time, it's better for everyone involved to end it officially. Keeping the legal ties of marriage when the real marriage is long gone doesn't make sense and can even cause harm.

WHY MUTUAL CONSENT DIVORCE IS PREFERRED

Mutual consent divorce is a way for married couples to quickly end their marriage when both parties agree to it. It's a much faster and cheaper process compared to the usual long and complex divorce procedures.

Here's why it's preferred:

Speed and Efficiency: It gets the job done quickly. Regular divorces can take a long time.

Cost-Effective: It's less expensive. Legal battles can be costly.

Negotiation Power: Couples can work out the terms of their separation themselves.

To qualify for mutual consent divorce under Section 13B, certain conditions must be met:

Living Apart: The couple must have lived separately for at least one year.

Failed Reconciliation: They should have tried but failed to live together.

Mutual Agreement: Both parties must freely agree to dissolve the marriage.

Withdrawal Period: Either party can withdraw the divorce request within six months. After that, it's not allowed.

If the couple can't agree on everything, the court may suggest mediation to help them reach an agreement.

In a certain case, the court extended the power to all lower courts to grant mutual consent divorce without waiting for a specific cooling-off period. This is because in some cases, insisting on a waiting period can make the situation worse for the couple.

To stop misuse, finance department wants ban on splitting of BPL cards

Seeks freeze on new cards for family members whose names exist in earlier cards

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

WITH more beneficiaries expected to be added to the State Government's guarantee schemes in the coming days, the Finance Department has urged the Food and Civil Supplies Department not to allow splitting of BPL cards. This, according to them, will restrict the misuse of below poverty line cards.

Karnataka has 1.2 crore BPL cards covering 4.4 crore beneficiaries. Over 1.15 crore families are availing benefits under the guarantee schemes, especially Gruha Lakshmi and Anna Bhagya. Under Gruha Lakshmi, Rs 2,000 is given to women heads of families, while money for the additional 5kg rice under Anna Bhagya is deposited into the accounts of beneficiaries.

The implementation of the five guarantees will cost the exchequer Rs 55,000 crore annually. Since these schemes were introduced between June and August this year, the Siddaramaiah government set aside Rs 36,000 crore for the remaining months for the financial year 2023-24.

According to Finance Department sources, the schemes have covered 1.15 crore families which cover more than 70% of the population.

However, some people with an intention to misuse the benefits, are seeking to get new ration cards from the same family by splitting from the existing card. This will lead to more number of beneficiaries, adding to the financial burden on the government.

"We have urged the Food and Civil Supplies Department to freeze new cards for family members whose names are already there in the existing card," said an informed source.

According to officials, since the financial aid of Rs 2,000 is used by those belonging to economically weaker sections, the beneficiaries are spending money on essentials, which attract 0-5% GST. Also, they buy groceries and other essentials from the neighbourhood shop and spend on non-branded items, which again has GST.

"With such expenditure, the amount is not coming completely in terms of GST to the government. However, the purchasing power of people has improved which eventually pushes the economy up," sources said.

Meanwhile, Food and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa said the guarantee schemes have to reach genuine beneficiaries, else action will be initiated.

G.O. TO PROCESS PENDING APPLICATIONS

The Food and Civil Supplies Department issued a government order on September 29, directing officials to process the pending 2.96 lakh applications for new ration cards. These applications were pending since March 2023. Once it is cleared, more beneficiaries are expected to be added for the guarantee schemes.

Central team on drought to tour K'taka from today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

TO assess the drought situation in Karnataka, three Central teams consisting of senior officials will visit different parts of the state for four days from Thursday. The State Government has declared 195 taluks as drought-hit.

The Central government officials will be accompanied by senior State government officials during their visits to the drought-hit areas. On Thursday morning, the three teams will visit the Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre and hold a meeting with officials at Vidhana Soudha to get information about the drought situation before starting their visits to the districts.

The team headed by Ajeet Kumar Sahu, Joint Secretary, Department of Agriculture, and Farmers Welfare, and consisting of officials from Central and State governments, including Agriculture Commissioner Patil Yalagouda will visit Belagavi, Vijayapura, Bagalkot, and Dharwad. The team headed by D Rajashekar, Additional Adviser, Department of Drinking Water and Sanitation and consisting of Central and State government officials, including KSNDMC director Karee Gowda, will visit drought-hit villages in Gadag, Koppal, Ballari, and Vijayanagar. The team headed by Ashok Kumar V, Director, Central Water Commission, will visit Chikkaballapura, Tumakuru, Chitradurga, and Davanagere.

After visiting the drought-hit villages, the officials in the Central team will again hold a meeting with the State Government officials in Bengaluru on October 9 before leaving for New Delhi.

Agriculture Minister N Chaluvarayaswamy has directed the officials from the revenue, agriculture, and horticulture departments to explain the ground reality to the Central team. In some villages, the crop has been completely damaged while in other places even if the crop is not completely damaged, the yield will be reduced considerably and that needs to be explained to the Central team during its visits to the villages, the minister directed the officials.

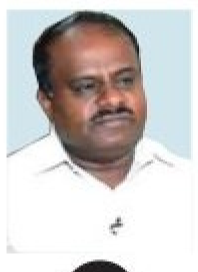
Cong attempts to poach MLAs forced JDS into BJP's arms

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @Bengaluru

THE JDS party leadership's decision to ally with the BJP is now being attributed to the Congress party's alleged attempts to 'poach' 13 of its 19 MLAs, and induct them into the party.

It is said that 7 or 8 MLAs were in touch with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and there was a mission to make the number 13, as the anti-incumbency law allows two-third of the total legislators of a party to merge with another, sources said. Siddaramaiah allegedly gave the task of convincing the JDS MLAs to some of his cabinet colleagues and senior leaders, precipitating the situation, and forcing former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy to meet BJP national leaders.



I want to make it clear to people that the alliance is being done in the state, and not for the sake of any power or position

HD Kumaraswamy, JDS leader and ex-CM

Hanur JDS MLA M R Manjunth met Siddaramaiah at Sambra airport in Belagavi and held talks for over half an hour, sources said. The facilitator was Urban Development and Town Planning Minister Byrati Suresh, also a Kuruba and staunch supporter of Siddaramaiah. Gurmitkal MLA Sharana Gowda Kandakur, Devagiri MLA Karemma G Nayaka and another 4-5 MLAs who expressed their displeasure over the alliance with BJP, were also ready to switch sides.

In Tumakuru, the task of convincing Chikkanayakanahalli JDS MLA B Suresh Babu was given to district minister Dr G Parameshwara and Karnataka's special representative in New Delhi and former minister T B Jayachandra. But it got delayed as Suresh Babu had a good equation with Kumaraswamy, according to a source. JDS patriarch H D Deve Gowda and Kumaraswamy, who got wind of the moves, met Union Home Minister Amit Shah to send a message that the JDS is strong and will make a comeback in the Lok Sabha polls, observed a political analyst.

Kumaraswamy predicting that the Congress government will collapse in six months, is part of the ploy to keep his 19 MLAs with the party, he added.

11 of 19 JDS MLAs against tie-up with BJP, says Ibrahim

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

JDS state president CM Ibrahim, who is upset with former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy's 'unilateral' decision to form an alliance with BJP for the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, on Wednesday claimed that 11 of the party's 19 MLAs are against the tie-up.

"They have expressed their displeasure with me. Around 20 per cent of Muslims voted for JDS in the May 10 Assembly elections, otherwise the party would have won only two seats," he said on Wednesday.

Around 20% of Muslims voted for JDS in the Assembly polls, otherwise the party would have won only two seats

CM Ibrahim, state JDS chief

He said, "We do not have the strength to form alliances at the national level. The party leadership in Kerala left us alone. This alliance is limited only to Karnataka. When all are gone, will we have a symbol with us?"

He felt that party leaders from all states should have been called before taking the decision to ally with BJP as JDS is strong in Maharashtra too. "National president HD Deve Gowda should have called the meeting to get their opinion."

Indirectly attacking HD Kumaraswamy, he said the party senior leader belittled Muslims' contribution to JDS in the assembly polls and felt that if they had gone with Kumaraswamy decisions, the party would not have won even 19 seats. "I did not go to Kumaraswamy, he came to me several times asking me to join JDS. I resigned from the MLC post despite having four more years of my tenure and joined JDS," he explained. He felt JDS would have won two to three Lok Sabha seats if it had gone alone without the alliance with BJP.

He said he will discuss these issues at a meeting with his supporters on October 16 and present the decisions to Deve Gowda before deciding whether to quit JDS. Asked if he is returning to Congress, he said, "I got a call from NCP leader Sharad Pawar, JDU leader Nitish Kumar, Aam Aadmi Party and also a Congress high command leader. I will take a decision after the outcome of the October 16 meeting and also meeting Deve Gowda."

DKS defends writing to home dept

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Wednesday defended writing to the Home Department appealing for dropping of cases against those involved in cases in Hubballi. "The BJP government has dropped cases against several people involved in communal cases and removed names from rowdy-sheeter list," the DyCM said responding to a question on the BJP's allegations that he had appealed to the Home Department to drop cases against those involved in communal violence in Hubballi.

The BJP leaders, who are unable to appoint a Leader of Opposition in the Assembly, are questioning the government, he said and added that people are aware of what BJP leaders had done when they were in power.

He said BJP leaders Basavaraj Bommai, Araga Jnanendra, JC Madhuswamy, and several others had written to the Home Department asking for the dropping of cases. In January and February 2023, as many as 7,361 names were removed from the list of rowdy-sheeters, he said. Shivakumar said they are reviewing the cases registered against innocent people and a decision will be taken after following due process, including recommendations from the officers who will look into the case details.

He said the government will soon decide on the Caste Census report. At the national level, the Congress party has taken a stand on the issue and the government will also decide in accordance with it, he said.

Shivamogga incident is a result of appeasement politics: Bommai

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister Basavaraj Bommai alleged that the appeasement of a particular community by the State Government prompted the recent untoward incidents in Shivamogga.

Speaking to reporters, Bommai said the government's appeasement policy is the reason for an increase in the activities of anti-social elements. Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara termed the Shivamogga incident small and after realising his mistake, he is now blaming the media for distorting his statement, he said.

Senior BJP leader Basangouda Patil Yatnal accused the State Government of instigating members of the Muslim community. He alleged that the police had information about the Shivamogga incident, but they failed to take appropriate action.

On the caste census report, Bommai said the BJP is not against it. "Chief Minister Siddaramaiah himself admitted several times that the survey was done during his tenure (2013-2018) was the socio-economic survey and not the caste census. There was a lot of difference between the caste system in North and South India," he said. "I am not aware of the contents in that report. It is alleged that the report has been leaked. Let us see once the report comes. Siddaramaiah should have received the report while he was the CM for the first time. However, it was not implemented due to the 2018 Assembly polls," he said.

MBCs AND ADIVASIS WAITING FOR CASTE CENSUS REPORT WITH HOPES OF INTERNAL QUOTA

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

EVEN as the demand to make public the Kantharaj commission report, popularly known as the caste census report, is getting louder, there is hope and fear, among most backward communities (MBCs) and tribals or adivasis in the state, who are looking for internal reservation. Though the report, commissioned by the Siddramaiah government during its first tenure, was ready in 2015, it has not been released citing reasons like the member secretary not signing it.

The expectations on the report are high among MBCs as over 70 per cent of castes and sects are yet to enjoy any political or economic benefits due to government's intervention. Though the issue was dormant for the last eight years, it has come to limelight now with Bihar releasing its caste census. While the Bihar census delved into the population of different castes, the Karnataka report is said to reveal the socio-economic and education status of different communities. The MBCs and microscopic communities want to know the contents of the report, which will help the government design programmes and policies aimed at different communities.

Adivasis too are keen as nearly 50 sects have not tasted any political, economic or educational benefits. Though Jenu Kuruba, Betta Kuruba, Soliga, Koraga and others have a population of over six lakhs and are spread across 38 Assembly constituencies, they have not got their due. They are the determining factor in 10 Assembly seats, but have not won a single seat against economically dominant scheduled tribes.

DEED founder Sreekanth said the government which is keen to publish the report should also exhibit its conviction to introduce internal reservation among STs that could bring hope among adivasis.

Ramu, a tribal, feared they will again be neglected if parties rush to please dominant communities instead of giving internal reservation to adivasis.

Raghu, a BJP leader from the Madiwala community, said his community has over 70,000 population in all the Assembly seats, but has not got its socio-economic share all these years. He said MBCs are like karab land that do not have any documents, while the dominant communities have all the privileges. He said that over 75 communities do not have a single Class 1 employee. Lack of social security and political representation has made them live a parasitic life in rural areas. He said the caste census will throw light on their population and injustice meted out to them.

Former Backward Classes Commission chairman CS Dwarkanath said MBCs have been neglected as they don't have a representation in democratic forums and policy-making bodies. The duty of the commission is not just to give a caste-wise population breakup, but to analyse the factors for their backwardness.

Observing that over 70% of microscopic communities do not have political representation or other benefits, he said Budumudaki, Drawase, Besadi, Kakalamudi, and many such castes in Category 1 or 2A have not enjoyed any benefits.

Sources said retired bureaucrats, experts and MBC leaders will meet in two days to discuss moves to build pressure on the government to come out with the report.

Renovation is nearing completion

Government sources said that the renovation work is nearing completion and the min-ister's office now looks swanky with new interiors and furniture. "It is now up to the minister to occupy his chamber," the sources added. The minister is now holding meetings at Khanija Bhavan on Race Course Road. Shivakumar has been allotted four rooms in Vidhana Soudha (335, 336, 337 and 337A). Presently, 337A is being converted into a conference hall. Sources said usually one or two rooms are allotted to a minister. But Shivakumar insisted on four rooms for him, of which one is now being converted into a conference hall. There are some conference halls on the third floor. However, Shivakumar sought a separate conference hall for himself. Apart from this work, one or two rooms on each floor of Vidhana Soudha are being renovated. Some rooms allotted to the ministers are undergoing major renovation work as per their directions, the sources said.

Madhya Pradesh ▸ Responsible Tourism For Everyone

MP Emerges As Hub of Spiritual Tourism

Madhya Pradesh IS A LAND OF PEACEFUL DIVERSITY.
A Perfect blend of Spiritualism and Modernity. From 64 lakh tourists in 2003 to an astounding 9 crore in 2023, madhya pradesh has successfully spread its unavoidable charm in the world over, in these two decade's journey...

> Tourism is a unifier. We are promoting responsible tourism. Spiritual and nature tourism are contributing to the foreign exchange reserve. Madhya Pradesh has immense potential in all spheres of tourism. We are scientifically harnessing it to create jobs."
>
> -Shivraj Singh Chouhan,
> CM, Madhya Pradesh

OMKARESHWAR
A SEAT OF SPIRITUAL AWAKENING

Omkareshwar has already established itself as a prominent destination on India's spiritual tourism map. Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan unveiled a towering 108-ft statue of Adi Guru Shankaracharya on Mandhata mountain in Omkareshwar, Khandwa district. This statue, known as the "Statue of Oneness," is set to be a major attraction for spiritual tourists.

- The statue stands on a 75-ft pedestal.
- It rests upon a 16-ft lotus made of stone.
- Comprising 88% copper, 4% zinc, and 8% tin, the statue weighs a staggering 100 tons.
- It was meticulously constructed from a total of 290 panels.
- High-quality 250-ton stainless steel forms the substructure of this magnificent statue.

A sigil of oneness and awakening

Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan envisions Omkareshwar as a global hub for unity and spiritual enlightenment. The 108-ft statue, accompanied by a museum of Advaita Vedanta and a research institute for in-depth study and contemplation, will honour the teachings of Acharya Shankar. This remarkable transformation in spiritual tourism, with Omkareshwar and Ujjain hosting two of the twelve Jyotirlingas, marks a special chapter in the spiritual tourism narrative. Madhya Pradesh's cultural and spiritual riches beckon travellers to embark on a profound journey of discovery and enlightenment.

In the Heart of India, Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan's leadership has transformed Madhya Pradesh into a treasure trove of diverse tourism experiences, inviting travellers to explore its rich tapestry.

Strategically located at India's crossroads, Madhya Pradesh reflects a harmonious amalgamation of North, South, East, and West, enriched with diverse cultural influences. For the spiritually inclined, the state offers sacred destinations like Ujjain, Omkareshwar, and Amarkantak, steeped in ancient traditions. Conversely, leisure seekers can unwind by the tranquil lakes and scenic vistas, such as the iconic Upper Lake in Bhopal and the serene Pachmarhi.

Madhya Pradesh isn't just a destination; it's a microcosm of India's rich tapestry. Visitors here discover a harmonious blend of culture, nature, and spirituality. This blend has led to a remarkable surge in spiritual tourism, making Madhya Pradesh an epitome of India's incredible diversity.

The manifestation of a spiritually charged tourism : Mahakal Corridor

Under the constant monitoring of the Chief Minister, Madhya Pradesh is rapidly emerging as a major hub for spiritual tourism. Tourist influx to Ujjain has seen an unimaginable surge following the inauguration of the Shri Mahakal corridor and the unique Triveni Museum, offering visitors a glimpse into the grandeur of Hinduism and Vedic culture.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi, in 103 episodes of his famous "Mann Ki Baat," acknowledged the Triveni Museum in Ujjain, which is adorned with pictorial narratives inspired by ancient scriptures in Bundi, Nathdwara, and Pahari painting styles. Eighteen artists from across the country have contributed to creating these remarkable artworks. The Madhya Pradesh Government's Culture Department has dedicated its efforts to crafting narratives that encompass various stories and episodes related to the eternal deities, Lord Shiva, the divine Aadi Shakti-Goddess Durga, and Lord Sri Krishna.

At Triveni, the elements of Sanatan Dharma find their finest expressions in contemporary art forms, representing artistic diversity rooted in Shaiva, Shakta, and Vaishnava traditions.

A confluence of indian spiritual heritage

Triveni Museum showcases the rich tapestry of Sanatan Dharma, encapsulating the artistic diversity of Shaiva, Shakta, and Vaishnava traditions within contemporary art forms.

Ujjain : a nerve center of spirituality

The ancient city of Ujjain, home to the sacred Mahakaleshwar Jyotirlinga, Har Siddhi Shaktipeeth and the Sandipani Ashram, is witnessing an unprecedented surge in devotees from around the world. In just four months since the inauguration of Shri Mahakal Lok, Ujjain has welcomed 30% more foreign tourists.

One lakh elderly devotees set out on a Soulful Pilgrimage

In 2012, the Mukhyamantri Tirth Darshan Yojana transformed spiritual tourism in Madhya Pradesh. Under the guidance of Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan, 17 sacred destinations were added to the scheme. Over 7.82 lakh elderly devotees, aged 60 or above, and non-income tax payees, have embarked on these pilgrimages. The State Government, in collaboration with IRCTC, provides special train services to various destinations and now even air travel options. The inaugural flight took pilgrims to the Holy Sangam in Allahabad. These revered pilgrimage centres encompass Shri Badrinath, Shri Kedarnath, Shri Jagannath Puri, Shri Dwarka Puri, Shri Amamath Dham, Vaishno Devi, Shirdi, Tirupati, Ajmer Sharif, Kashi, Bodh Gaya, Amritsar, Rameshwaram, Velankanni Church, Nagapattinam, Samved Shikhar, and Shravan Belgola.

Opulent and Splendorous Orchha and Gwalior

Madhya pradesh's two cities orchha and gwalior, are famed for their realistic civic layout, rooted in the region's scenic natural topography, and elemental to their contemporary urban scenery

Orchha, the 16th-century capital of the bundela dynasty, boasts a distinctive fusion of rajput and mughal architectural styles. With a current population of around 12,000, the town is experiencing rapid growth. While, founded in the 9th century, gwalior stands at the crossroads of its cultural heritage and contemporary urban life. With over a million residents, the city is evolving in tandem with economic changes and urbanization. Gwalior's cultural identity, rooted in its historic core, plays a crucial role in its development.

Gwalior has been officially designated a 'smart city' by the indian government, owing to its strategic location near major commercial hubs and tourist circuits. This designation aligns with the smart cities mission, a national initiative aimed at fostering sustainable urban ecosystems, a goal sometimes perceived as at odds with urban heritage.

Revolutionising heritage-based urban planning in south asia

This urban planning project is expected to establish a precedent in india and south asia, showcasing best practices and tools for urban development in historic cities based on the hul approach.

ECONOMIC PROGRESS OF MP TOURISM

Both gwalior and orchha's historic centres have experienced a surge in religious and cultural tourism, driving economic growth. However, this rapid urbanization and unsustainable tourism have also brought negative consequences.

HERITAGE BASED URBAN PLANNING FOR SUSTAINABLE FUTURE

A collaborative project between unesco new delhi office and the madhya pradesh state government's department of tourism seeks to implement the 2011 unesco recommendation on the historic urban landscape (hul) in gwalior and orchha. This initiative, slated to continue until early 2022, aims to enhance and integrate the urban heritage of these cities, aligning it with the smart city initiative.

Setting benchmarks of sustainable urban expansion

The project, spanning 48 weeks, will generate recommendations for urban development in gwalior and orchha, with unesco new delhi providing crucial training and technical expertise for local hul recommendation implementation. Extensive surveying and mapping of urban characteristics will inform these recommendations. The program also fosters collaboration between experts, local authorities, and communities to build long-term partnerships, raise awareness, and connect cultural heritage preservation with sustainable development.

BRS NOT B-TEAM OF ANY PARTY, SAYS KTR

Claims BJP had sent feelers to form an alliance in 2018, cautions people not to be swayed by Cong guarantees

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hyderabad/ Nizamabad/Adilabad

CONTINUING his tirade against the BJP, BRS working president KT Rama Rao on Wednesday said the pink party had never entered into an alliance to contest in polls since the formation of Telangana.

Refuting the allegations of BJP leaders, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi, on Wednesday, Rama Rao took to X (formerly Twitter) and said, "BRS has never allied with anyone during polls ever since Telangana was formed despite several requests. In fact, it is the opposition that has come together, setting aside their ideological differences, to defeat the formidable KCR garu."

Telangana IT Minister KT Rama Rama Rao arrives to inaugurate development works at Banswada on Wednesday

"In 2018, the Biggest Jhoota Party, through its then State president Dr K Laxman, sent feelers to ally with the BRS," he said, adding, "Could the offer have been made without the approval of his Delhi bosses? And BRS had rejected the offer outright the very next minute it was made. The political tourists with selective amnesia who are fabricating stories should know this."

"Let me pose a simple common-sense question: Why should BRS ally with a party that didn't even secure deposits in 105 Assembly segments? Why would BRS require the support of BJP in GHMC elections when we had the strength to stand on our own? We are fighters, not cheats," Rama Rao added.

Meanwhile, asserting that the BRS is not a 'B-Team' of any party, BRS working president and IT Minister KT Rama Rao on Wednesday called upon voters to ensure that candidates fielded by both the Congress and BJP lose their deposits.

Referring to a song in the popular movie 'Rangasthalam' titled 'Naganna Agattununtavaa...,' Rama Rao urged voters to make a conscious choice in the elections. He said that 'Agattununtavva' symbolised the 60-year history of Congress and its misdeeds, while 'Eegattu' represented the vision of the BRS and Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao's welfare and development programmes.

Rama Rao assured people that the BRS would soon unveil its manifesto for the upcoming Assembly elections and cautioned the people against being swayed by the "6 Guarantees" of the Congress. Questioning the integrity of Congress leaders, the minister alleged that TPCC chief A Revanth Reddy was a hardcore RSS man. "It's a case of Godse sitting in Gandhi Bhavan," Rama Rao said, adding that the TPCC president was promoting a divisive ideology and that people needed to be vigilant against such leaders. "Revanth Reddy demanded ₹25 crore from a leader for a party ticket, and the leader attempted suicide," he alleged.

He also criticised Prime Minister Narendra Modi for his "falsehoods" regarding the BRS and his claims that the Centre extended all support to the state.

Rahul praises Shakti, but women complain of rude bus staffers

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

EVEN as former AICC president Rahul Gandhi posted on X about the success of the free travel scheme for women, some women passengers complained of harassment at the hands of drivers and conductors.

Rahul on Wednesday morning posted, "Lakshmi, Vandana, Pooja, and lakhs of women like them in Karnataka have been empowered by the Congress govt's Shakti Yojana, which provides free bus travel. Whether it's going to school, college, work, or traveling anywhere in the state, the Shakti Yojana has made women self-reliant & resulted in substantial financial savings. This scheme also boosts the local economy and generates job opportunities. It's a matter of pride that our governance model is ensuring the women of Karnataka are given their rights."

In response, Karnataka Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy said, "We have made it possible for women to travel free and till date, 70.73 lakh women passengers have benefitted from this Shakti Scheme which enables women to travel freely through KSRTC, BMTC, NWKRTC and KKRTC. It is a facility to empower women to travel freely and the number of beneficiaries are a witness to its popularity. It is a transparent scheme and is open to all women passengers."

But some women passengers had complaints. Manasa R, a passenger, told TNIE, "I had a poor experience. A BMTC conductor derogatorily asked me, 'Cash or Siddaramaiah Scheme?'. Another conductor asked, 'Cash or OC ticket?'."

When this was brought to Ramalinga Reddy's notice, he was livid and said, "Please bring it to my or authorities' notice and we will take action. No one can be rude or callous towards our passengers."

Transport authorities said, "Conductors and drivers get a 2 per cent incentive on tickets sold. All these passengers under the Shakti Scheme are considered ticketed passengers and the incentives are offered to the staff, which earn them Rs 200-300 extra. Wherever such rude comments are made, it should be brought to our notice and the culprits will be pulled up immediately."

Four die, four injured in cracker factory explosion in TN

ANTONY FERNANDO
@ Mayiladuthurai (Tamil Nadu)

AT least four workers died and four others suffered injuries in an explosion at a firecracker manufacturing unit near Mayiladuthurai on Wednesday.

The explosion at "Ramadas Fireworks" based at Thillaiyadi in Sembanarkoil block (Tharangambadi taluk) occurred at 3.30 pm. The blast could be heard several kilometres away from the site, reported several residents in Thillaiyadi. A fire worker at Tharangambadi Fire Station told TNIE, "We heard the explosion at our station, which was six kilometres from the spot. We also received a call from the owner about the explosion." Eight personnel from the station arrived at the spot and another team of six personnel from Poompuhar Fire Station was called for backup. "We doused the fire within minutes and started the cooling process. We found body parts and flesh for around a hundred metres from the factory. It was gory," the fireman added.

Manickam (35) from Kidangal and Madhan (22), Ragavan (21) and Nikesh (18) from Moovalur died in the explosion, while Manivannan, Bakkirisamy, Masilamani and Mariappan suffered injuries and were rushed to Nagapattinam Government General Hospital for treatment.

A huge crowd gathered outside the spot after the explosion, and police had to clear them to make way for the fire personnel and ambulances.

According to sources, the factory has been operating since 2008 and has a license validity till 2026. The police have detained factory owner V Mohan for interrogation.

Mayiladuthurai SP in charge Harsh Singh and officials from the Mayiladuthurai district administration inspected the site of the accident.

Harsh Singh told TNIE, "The workers were working outside their factory when the explosion occurred. They were probably mixing the material when it exploded. We are investigating the cause of the accident. We suspect reasons such as inexperience or the friction caused by heat."

Chief Minister MK Stalin has condoled the families of the four deceased and announced a solatium of ₹3 lakh from the Chief Minister's Relief Fund. He also directed proper treatment of the injured.

30 amphibian species in Karnataka face extinction

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

CLIMATE change is one of the biggest and direct threats to amphibians like frogs, salamanders and caecilians (limbless amphibians). Researchers have found that 30 of these species from the Western Ghats are threatened. Of the 8,000 amphibian species researchers studied globally, 426 were from India. As many as 100 species of amphibians from Karnataka were studied and 30 were found to be threatened.

Similarly, 178 species from Kerala were studied and 84 were found to be threatened. In Tamil Nadu, 128 species were studied and 54 were threatened. These findings were part of a study - Ongoing declines for the world's amphibians in the face of emerging threats - published in the journal Nature on October 4. The study is based on the second global amphibian assessment, coordinated by the Amphibian Red List Authority, a branch of the International Union for Conservation of Nature's (IUCN) Species Survival Commission's Amphibian Specialist Group. The first such assessment was done in 2004.

Over 1,000 experts from across the globe contributed data and expertise in the study, which found that two out of every five amphibians are threatened with extinction. This data is also being included in the IUCN Red List of threatened species. Thirty experts from India were part of the study.

The study noted that climate change was the primary threat to 39% of the assessed species. Batrachologist and faculty member, Srishti Manipal Institute of Art Design and Technology, Gururaja K V, told The New Indian Express, "We did a species-wise study. The family of dancing frogs is the most threatened species in the Indo-Malaysian region, more so in the Western Ghats. There are 24 species in the Ghats. Of these, two are critically endangered and 15 are endangered. So this shows that 92% of the group is threatened. This is also the fifth most threatened group in the world." Gururaja was the researcher from Karnataka to contribute to the study.

"After the dancing frogs, the next species that is most threatened in all three southern states is Nyctibatrachidae (night frogs) and 83.9% of the family is threatened across the Western Ghats. There has been a long gap between the first and the second study. Now with this, we want to do it annually so that there are regular updates and better protection. The government should use the study to shift their focus from concentration on charismatic species to lesser known and smaller species. Micro habitat protection is crucial now," he added. Researchers also pointed out that there is only one salamander species in India, in Darjeeling, and it is threatened.

They added that little is known of the caecilians. They said there are 40 species of caecilians in India, of which 36 are in the Western Ghats and four in the North East. However, only 13 species have been assessed and all are threatened.

Focus on lesser known destinations: Ajay Bhatt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

UNION Minister of State for Tourism and Defence Ajay Bhatt on Wednesday met with stakeholders involved in the tourism sector in Bengaluru.

At the meeting, he suggested the promoting lesser-known destinations with historical importance must also be a focus area. He added that the facilities and schemes provided by the Centre for the overall development of the sector should be utilised to promote tourism in the country.

He asked all stakeholders to identify and popularise lesser-known historical sites in the state and provide more information about them to tourists.

Sources at the meeting said that it was highlighted to the minister that there are 1,800 protected monuments in Karnataka. The minister said that while the state is showcasing Hampi and other UNESCO World Heritage Sites on all its platforms to draw crowds, there are many sites that are equally and more important, but need to be highlighted, though they are mentioned in the list of ASI-protected sites and the state archaeology department.

Representatives from the Centre and state governments, travel trade partners, hoteliers, guides and project management teams attended the meeting. During the interactions, the representatives put forward suggestions and opinions for overall development of tourism and also cited issues faced by tourism sector.

RMC to host annual nat'l conference

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

RAMAIAH Medical College (RMC) will organise the 63rd Annual National Conference, NAMSCON 2023, at its Ramaiah University of Applied Sciences (RUAS) campus from October 6 to 8, 2023 in Bengaluru.

The three-day conference is being held in collaboration with National Academy of Medical Sciences (NAMS), under the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare. Its aim is to showcase changes in the health sector through digital innovations.

OP Kharbanda, Pro-Vice Chancellor, RUAS, said Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot, Union Minister of State (independent charge) for Science and Technology Dr Jitendra Singh, and Union Minister of State for Health and Family Welfare SP Singh Baghel will participate in the event.

Dr Shalini C Nooyi, Principal and Dean of RMC, said 14 skill enhancing pre-conference workshops will be conducted, covering areas such as sports medicine, advanced research, critical incident management, entrepreneurship and innovation and humanities in healthcare.

Special marriages to be registered via video conferencing in Kerala

K S SREEJITH@T'Puram

IN a move that could redefine the conduct of special marriages in Kerala, the state Personnel and Administrative (P&AR) department has recommended validating registration of such marriages through video conferencing.

In its work-study report submitted to the government last month, the P&AR suggested that the Special Marriage Act of 1954 be amended to empower sub-registrars to register marriages under the Act through video conference.

"If the sub-registrar has the best conviction that registering the marriage of a bride and groom, who are working abroad, is of utmost importance, the officer can do so, after obtaining prior approval from the district registrar. Adequate amendments should be brought in The Special Marriage Act," the report said.

The recommendation was made in view of demands from youngsters living abroad. Currently, there are no clauses in the Special Marriage Act to register marriage through video conference. However, at the time of the Covid, when travel ban was in force in several countries, a few marriages were registered through video conferencing after the Kerala High Court gave special sanction to do so.

> If the sub-registrar has the best conviction that registering the marriage of a bride and groom is of utmost importance, the officer can do so, after obtaining approval from the registrar
>
> — Report

The report has also proposed that the registration department should take immediate steps to incorporate photos of the bride and groom in the marriage certificate. "There are reports that many embassies have shown reluctance to accept the marriage certificate issued under the Special Marriage Act as there are no photos in that to be shown as proof. It had also caused some legal issues to those who travel to foreign countries with their family after the marriage," the report said.

The report has also asked the government to form committees in all 14 districts to revise the existing fair value of the land according to the land classification. "The fair value should be reviewed and revised every 5 years by the committee. At present, the fair value is fixed for only one or two land classifications. Unless the fair value is fixed upon the 15 land classifications it would affect the exchequer when new developmental projects and roads came up. If the district level committee be set up it would help to assess the increase in the value of the land and it would naturally reflect on the fair value too," it said.

Additional features should be integrated with the registration department's online portal so that a prospective buyer can find out whether there was any liability attached to the land as also the details of the heirs of the property, the report added.

IAF to get 97 more LCAs, have 220 in inventory

CHIEF of Air Staff Air Chief Marshal VR Chaudhari said the IAF will procure 97 more LCAs and with this, it will have 220 LCAs in its inventory.

CB Ananthakrishnan, CMD, HAL, said the company is committed to delivering all twin-seater aircraft pertaining to initial operational clearance (IOC) and final operational clearance (FOC) contracts to IAF in the current financial year. "With this, we are moving one step closer towards achieving self-sufficiency in the fixed-wing segment. These trainers also ensure a smooth transition for pilots from trainer to fighter aircraft in this class," he added.

LCA Tejas twin-seater is a light weight, all-weather multi-role 4.5 generation aircraft designed to support the training requirements of the IAF and augment itself to the role of a fighter in case of necessity, HAL stated.

"It is an amalgamation of contemporary concepts and technologies such as relaxed static-stability, quadraplex fly-by-wire flight control, carefree manoeuvring, advanced glass cockpit, integrated digital avionics systems and advanced composite material for the airframe. The production of the LCA twin-seater variant adds India to the list of very few elite countries that have created such a capability and have them operational in their defence forces," a press release said.

It is another feather in the cap of the 'Aatmanirbhar Bharat' initiative of the Union Government, the release said.

Govt banking on solar power for summer: George

Hassan: Energy Minister KJ George on Wednesday said the state government is taking all steps to supply uninterrupted electricity during the summer (April-May) despite power shortage. Speaking to reporters in Arasikere after the land for solarization of IP feeders in Dasenahalli and Rangenahalli, the minister said solarized pump feeders will ensure uninterrupted power supply at a low cost apart from promoting green energy. Such projects will ensure that farmers get continuous power supply, he added. "Electricity supply companies like BESCOM, CESCOM and HESCOM have already identified land to set up solar parks. The government has decided to generate 3,000 MW solar power in 400 substations in the state. The government is also in touch with neighbouring states to tackle the power situation during the summer," George said. ENS

CHALLENGE FOR BJP AS NITISH GAMBLE COULD LEAD TO MANDAL REDUX

BIHAR Chief Minister Nitish Kumar has rolled the dice for the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. By conducting a caste survey in the state and releasing the data collected, Nitish has made a move that is sure to trigger a chain reaction and have a long-term impact on India's political landscape. The Bihar caste survey will have three immediate reactions. First, it will bring immense pressure on all political parties to conduct similar surveys in states where they are in power. There are reports that the Odisha and Karnataka governments may release their own caste survey reports. Second, a demand for enumerating caste along with population in the next national census would be made. Former Congress president Rahul Gandhi has already raised such a demand. And third, a demand for raising the current 27 percent quota for the Other Backward Classes is bound to be raised as the Bihar survey has found backward communities to be over 60 percent of the population.

There is a sense of déjà vu about Nitish's latest project. It has been brought under circumstances that are strikingly similar to those under which then prime minister VP Singh implemented the Mandal Commission report to give reservation in government jobs to the backward classes. His decision came at a time when the BJP had launched a nationwide campaign to 'liberate' the Ram Janmabhoomi at Ayodhya. VP Singh's unleashing of caste reservations dented the BJP's pan-Hindu appeal and gave immense strength to caste-based regional parties, most of which were his allies. Nitish, too, has brought in the caste survey at a time when the BJP, under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, has consolidated its vote base with its pan-Hindu plank of Hindutva. Besides identifying the most marginalised castes for more targeted upliftment schemes, the Bihar survey also has a political side. It has the potential to divide the BJP's assiduously built Hindutva votebank just like VP Singh's Mandal did. The Bihar caste survey has all the potential of turning into Mandal Part 2.

The prime minister appears to have been working to face the eventuality. His government had set up the Rohini Commission for sub-categorisation of OBCs. The commission has also been asked to expand the OBC list by adding more castes. The commission's report is ready for release. Social justice will be the war cry for the 2024 elections. It's game on.

DON'T ALLOW POLITICS TO CONGEST B'LURU FURTHER

ON the one hand, Bengaluru's infamous traffic found a mention in comedian Trevor Noah's show. On the other, the government banned carpooling apps, only to quickly rescind its decision. All in a week. Noah's trolling is understandable. He was stuck in a miles-long traffic pileup that clogged the city last week, just ahead of a bandh and long holiday weekend. Noah was late for his show, which was eventually cancelled. Biocon founder Kiran Mazumdar-Shaw drew attention to his comments on the traffic issue, which has long plagued successive governments. Bengaluru, which has a human population of 11 million, has around 12.5 million vehicles.

While confusion continues over the ban on carpooling, the government is holding discussions with carpool aggregators to sort out the issue of commercialising the service and giving licences to run it as a business. Carpooling remains a private option exercised by office-goers to cut down on fuel costs; taking independent cabs can also burn a hole in the pocket. Carpooling is an ideal solution, especially for techies living and working in the East Bengaluru swathe, as it serves to ease congestion on this traffic-dense corridor and bring down pollution levels. There is also a lack of a robust public transport system along this stretch, which makes carpooling a pragmatic solution.

The sudden announcement of the ban came after auto and taxi associations went on strike a fortnight ago to protest against the government's Shakti scheme, which provides free bus rides for women. They laid down a list of demands, among which were a ban on carpooling and bike taxis, which they say are shrinking their business that has already been hit by the loss of women commuters. The government, which promised to meet their demands, finds itself caught on a cleft stick, but should realise it cannot give in to transport unions and burden the public with a ban on economical and practical mobility options. Bike taxis remain at the centre of controversy across cities, and the legality of the service was even taken up in the Supreme Court. Instead of imposing restrictions, the authorities should look at holistic transport solutions, where bus routes and the Metro network are supplemented by cheap last-mile connectivity. Political compulsions such as the Shakti scheme cannot dictate government policy on private modes of transportation, and certainly not citizens' choices.

QUICK TAKE

FACE THE SPACE AS ONE

THE US government has issued the first-ever fine for improper disposal of space debris. The government's communications regulator has fined Dish Network $150,000 for failing to remove an old satellite far from others in use. There are an estimated seven lakh pieces of junk larger than one centimetre in Earth's orbit; NASA tracks one in every twenty-five of them. The British and European space administrations spend millions on their own missions to track and clean space junk. This is an impossible task without a combined global commission. It would be absurd to see the cleanup after the space race as another race in itself.

Land plays the main role in the conflict. The friction between the tribes in the northeastern state has a lot to do with how each community views the possession of land

ANCIENT FRICTIONS FIND AN ECHO IN MANIPUR CRISIS

PRADIP PHANJOUBAM

Editor, Imphal Review of Arts and Politics

SOUMYADIP SINHA

IT is despairing to watch Manipur continue to spiral deeper into the heart of darkness, almost completely out of the administration's control. After the initial frenzied week of mob violence that exploded on May 3 at Torbung village and then spread to other parts of the state like a tsunami, the pattern has been brief spells of calm that held the promise of peace broken rudely and periodically by fresh outbreaks of violence and scandal in some corner or the other of the state. Even as the universal outrage over the video from May 4 of two Kuki women being paraded naked by a Meitei mob that surfaced on July 19 began cooling, another one erupted when pictures of a cold-blooded execution of two teenagers—abducted on July 6 and missing since—surfaced on social media on September 25.

The identities of the killers in the latter case are now official, though they were known much earlier as they apparently were using the dead teens' phones after changing SIM cards; their movements were therefore registered digitally. Four of them were arrested on October 1, and two children, probably dependents of a couple among the arrested, were also picked up. In the earlier case, seven identified culprits have been arrested and prior to that, some of them faced the wrath of mobs. Both these sensitive cases are being handled by the Central Bureau of Investigation.

The day after the photos of the teens became public, school and college students in uniforms flocked to the streets of Imphal in outrage. To everybody's utter surprise and anger, riot control police inexplicably responded with extreme violence, breaking up the rallies not just with tear gas but pellet guns, injuring several grievously. A seventeen-year-old boy was shot point-blank on his shoulders, and his arm was nearly blown off; over ninety metal pellets were lodged in his body.

As the conflict drags on and gets entrenched, just as scholars have predicted, what is being demonstrated is the difficulty of capturing the complete essence of any bitter conflict even by honest chroniclers. History writing, it seems, can never be completely free of the question: "Whose history?" There are many reasons for this, but consider one that has relevance to the ongoing feud between the Kuki-Zo tribes and Meiteis. One of the causes for this faceoff is the alleged continuous illegal immigration of Kuki-aligned Chin tribes from across the border in Myanmar and the related issues of encroachment into reserved forests and poppy cultivation. Kuki villages tend to proliferate because of a peculiar landholding custom where the village chief owns all the land and villagers are landless tenants; so, some of them tend to leave and set up their villages. Indeed, in the wake of the current crisis, Kuki leaders have repeatedly admitted this in high-profile interviews to the media, saying that this is nothing unnatural and that it is their tradition to roam and settle anywhere in their land.

The key word here is land. The conflict that we are witnessing today is very much about how different tribes and communities see land and its possession. Without any value judgement, consider this: For the nomads, anywhere they pitch their tents is their land, but this is not so for the settled agriculturists or the feudal principality, and indeed the modern state. When all these tribes and communities live in the same geographical region and era, conflicts are only to be expected.

This essential friction between peoples with different outlooks to land is beautifully brought out by Anthony Sattin in his book Nomads: The Wanderers Who Shaped Our World. He sees metaphors to this effect in mythologies, such as of Seth and Osiris of the Egyptians, or the characters in Homer's Odyssey, but most interestingly in the first murder in the Bible where Cain, the first son of Adam and Eve, kills his younger brother Abel. Cain, interestingly, is a tiller of the soil, and Abel a wandering shepherd. These metaphors are also there in practically every old religion or culture, pointing to the primal nature of this friction in human history. Depending on who gets to tell the story—the sedentary or the wandering population—the other would be the monster or demon.

This conflict is as ancient as the agricultural revolution that started 10,000 years ago after the last Ice Age receded, and after humans began domesticating crops to become food-secure—or as Yuval Noah Harari, in jest, puts it in Sapiens: A Brief History of Humankind, after crops domesticated humans. While there is no divinely ordained code of rectitude to decide which of these outlooks to land is most just, the reality is that the modern state is premised on a sedentary and enumerable population. Democracy itself would become ineffective if its population were to be constantly shifting and unenumerated. Good administration, too, would become impossible, with state infrastructure like roads, public health and education facilities constantly having to chase their wandering, proliferating villages.

In short, there can be no alternative to halting this wandering custom among some tribes. They must come to terms with the new reality of sedentary lifestyle, which must necessarily predicate any modern state. This will transform the endemic land tussles Kukis, for instance, face with their neighbouring communities—Nagas and Meiteis. This will also end their confrontations with the state on issues such as encroachments into reserved forests.

This can begin with an overhaul of the Kukis' landholding norms where villagers are landless tenants or serfs. Neighbouring Mizoram, home to the kindred tribes of the Kukis, is a shining example of this. 'Commoner or slave' tribes here, empowered by modern education brought by Christian missionaries—at the crucial juncture when a modern self-governance mechanism under the Sixth Schedule of the Constitution was being introduced—unitedly demanded change. Consequently, the autocratic rights of 259 chiefs were curtailed in 1953 and then abolished in 1954. Village administration power thereafter passed on to elected village councils constituted under the Sixth Schedule, giving the villages a sense of permanence.

NEP 2020 CENTRALISES EDUCATION, WORSENS EXISTING MALADIES

K JAYAKUMAR

Former Kerala chief secretary and ex-VC, Thunchath Ezhuthachan Malayalam University

THE National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 has been a contentious document right from its inception. Even state governments that had ideological disagreements with the ethos and prescriptions of the policy could not afford to take too strident a view as the centre held the purse strings. Besides, states have little elbow room as the new policy and the consequent administrative changes fast-tracked by the centre affect students who move to other states to pursue higher studies. The generally muted criticism of the NEP has conveyed the impression that the policy has generally found acceptance.

But there is considerable trepidation and anxiety among students and parents about the implications of these radical changes. At the political level, there is resentment that the centre, by its frenetic pace of implementation, has made education, a subject in the concurrent list of the Constitution, appear like a central subject. At the academic level, there is uncertainty over the future of public universities and colleges.

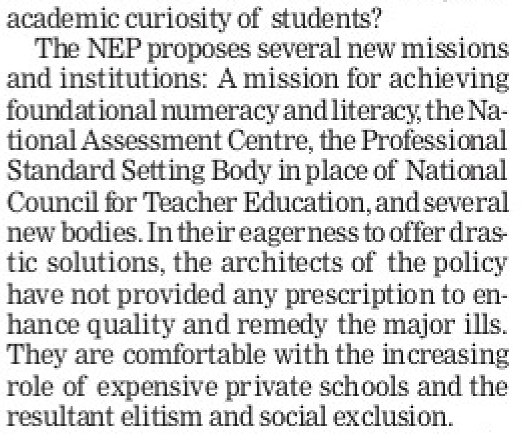
The NEP 2020 claims to address the "developmental imperatives of the country" and proposes to revise and revamp the structure, governance and regulatory mechanisms to create a system "aligned with the aspirational goals of 21st century education". Lofty as these ideals are, the trouble arises in the idea of "developmental imperatives" presumed in the policy. Unfortunately, that development vision is neither inclusive nor egalitarian and shows no sensitivity to social justice. It doesn't even mention the Right to Education Act or try to imbibe its philosophy of social equity and inclusion. The major flaw of the NEP is the implicit message that everything needs to be deconstructed and re-imagined.

Poor enrolment, high dropout rate, poor access, teacher absenteeism, unproductive pedagogy, poor school infrastructure and several such factors are the well-known lacunae in our school education. Though the policy recognises some of these issues, the document is silent about the real causes of these maladies and glosses over the administrative and financial implications of effective remedial action. The policy is oblivious to the diverse state-specific scenarios.

The NEP proposes to bring Early Childhood Care and Education within the formal school system and replace the structure of 4+3+3+2 with the 5+3+3+4 design. This radical restructuring will throw up humongous academic, administrative and financial difficulties. Is the proposed structure the panacea for the deep-seated problems in school education? Is it going to bring fresh air into classrooms and unlock the creativity and academic curiosity of students?

The NEP proposes several new missions and institutions: A mission for achieving foundational numeracy and literacy, the National Assessment Centre, the Professional Standard Setting Body in place of National Council for Teacher Education, and several new bodies. In their eagerness to offer drastic solutions, the architects of the policy have not provided any prescription to enhance quality and remedy the major ills. They are comfortable with the increasing role of expensive private schools and the resultant elitism and social exclusion.

This eagerness to centralise and create new institutions while devaluing existing institutions seems to be the inbuilt limitation of the policy. While enumerating the ten major problems in higher education, the NEP identifies "large affiliating universities" as a problem "resulting in low standards of undergraduate education". The solution proposed to "end fragmentation" is to transform "higher education institutions (HEIs) into large multidisciplinary institutions", each of which will aim to have 3,000 or more students. The policy claims this as its "highest recommendation".



Where the policy goes wrong is its implicit belief that everything in the education system needs to be deconstructed and re-imagined

In section 10.12, the NEP makes a key recommendation that the system of affiliated colleges will be phased out over a period of fifteen years through a system of "graded autonomy". Distinctions such as deemed-to-be-universities, private universities and public universities will have no relevance, and the private sector will be encouraged to establish multidisciplinary higher education institutions. Public universities (bereft of any affiliating role) are envisioned as Multidisciplinary Education and Research Universities to aim for the highest standards in research. And there will be a National Research Foundation to guide the quality of research. The Foundation—which will control the course of academic research with "suitable incentives and recognition"—is evidently a Trojan horse for the political executive to directly control academic research.

A Higher Education Commission of India has been proposed as an umbrella organisation under which four verticals will function: the National Higher Education Regulatory Council, National Accreditation Council, Higher Education Grants Council, and General Education Council. The functions of these verticals are now being carried out by well-established institutions such as the University Grants Commission and the All India Council for Technical Education. Does the NEP presume that the absence of the proposed institutions was compromising the quality of university education and research? By weakening public universities and encouraging private entities to establish HEIs with degree-granting powers, higher education is poised to become prohibitively expensive for a student with meagre resources. The policy is woefully insensitive to this.

The NEP 2020, in its eagerness to create new structures and institutions, primarily belittles the achievements and accumulated experience of several important bodies in the education sector. It reiterates the innate desire to centralise and march towards the undeclared objective of 'one nation, one education'. The whole premise of creating an array of new structures is evidently not the answer. In fact, it will only create new problems even as existing real problems are aggravated. Substantial national energy and resources will be frittered away in creating additional structures that will only centralise a subject in the concurrent list. It is a project fraught with the danger of deconstruction without being able to construct anything better. The NEP is a bundle of wrong prescriptions that cannot cure the maladies but can only aggravate them.

ED should not be vindictive, says SC

Top court flays the probe agency for poor and arbitrary exercise of powers during its investigation

JAISON WILSON @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday said that the Enforcement Directorate should refrain from being vindictive in its conduct and must instead act with the utmost probity, dispassion, and fairness.

This observation was made by a bench of Justices AS Bopanna and PV Sanjay Kumar while handling a case related to the probe and arrest of M3M India directors Basant Bansal and Pankaj Bansal.

The top court allowed the appeal of Pankaj Bansal and overturned a previous order of the Punjab and Haryana High Court that had refused to quash the arrest orders and associated proceedings of the Bansals in connection with a money laundering investigation.

The apex court criticised the Central agency for its poor and arbitrary exercise of powers during the investigation. It noted that summons to the accused in relation to a second Enforcement Case Information Report (ECIR) were issued shortly after they had been questioned regarding the first complaint.

The first ECIR had been registered by the ED on June 15, 2021, and Roop Bansal was arrested in connection with it on June 8, 2023.

Neither of the appellants was named as accused in the first ECIR. However, the ED claimed that the investigation into the first ECIR was still ongoing.

The bench took note of the manner in which the ED swiftly recorded the second ECIR immediately after the appellants obtained anticipatory bail in relation to the first ECIR. This happened despite the foundational FIR dating back to April 17, 2023. Subsequently, the ED summoned and arrested them within a short span of approximately 24 hours. This, the court found, displayed a complete and utter lack of bona fides.

After scrutinising the details of the case, the top court pointed out that the sequence of events raised serious concern on the ED's operational methods.

Delay in complying with orders

Expressing dissatisfaction with the delay in complying with previous orders, the bench, led by Justice SK Kaul, emphasised that the Punjab government must respect the court's authority.

JAISON WILSON @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court criticised the Punjab government for its slow progress in constructing the Sutlej-Yamuna Link (SYL) canal, a two-decade-old pending project. The court instructed the Centre to conduct a survey of the land designated for the canal to assess the work's status.

Expressing dissatisfaction with the delay in complying with previous orders, the bench, led by Justice SK Kaul, emphasised that the Punjab government must respect the court's authority. The court cautioned against issuing stricter orders if necessary. Additionally, the bench requested the ASG Aishwarya Bhati to estimate the progress of construction in Punjab and urged the state to cooperate. The court's primary concern is the execution of the canal construction decree in Punjab.

Acknowledging potential political implications, the court stressed the importance of the survey. They directed the Centre to initiate pre-construction land surveys and scheduled further consideration of the matter for January 2024.

Regarding the longstanding water dispute between Punjab and Haryana, the court had urged the CM's to meet and resolve the issue at the highest level. The court also deemed Punjab's reliance on the Punjab Termination of Agreements Act, 2004 as legally unsustainable. Punjab cited this law to refuse construction of the SYL, claiming it lacked additional river water to share with Haryana.

Flash flood in Sikkim: Experts point to climate change risks

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @New Delhi

A cloudburst over Lhonak Lake in north Sikkim has triggered a flash flood in the Teesta River basin, killing at least eight people. Nearly 70 others, including 22 army personnel, are missing too.

The Glacial Lake Outburst Flood (GLOF) has washed away Chungthang Teesta Urja Dam. Video footages of terrible destruction have gone viral social media.

What is GLOF?

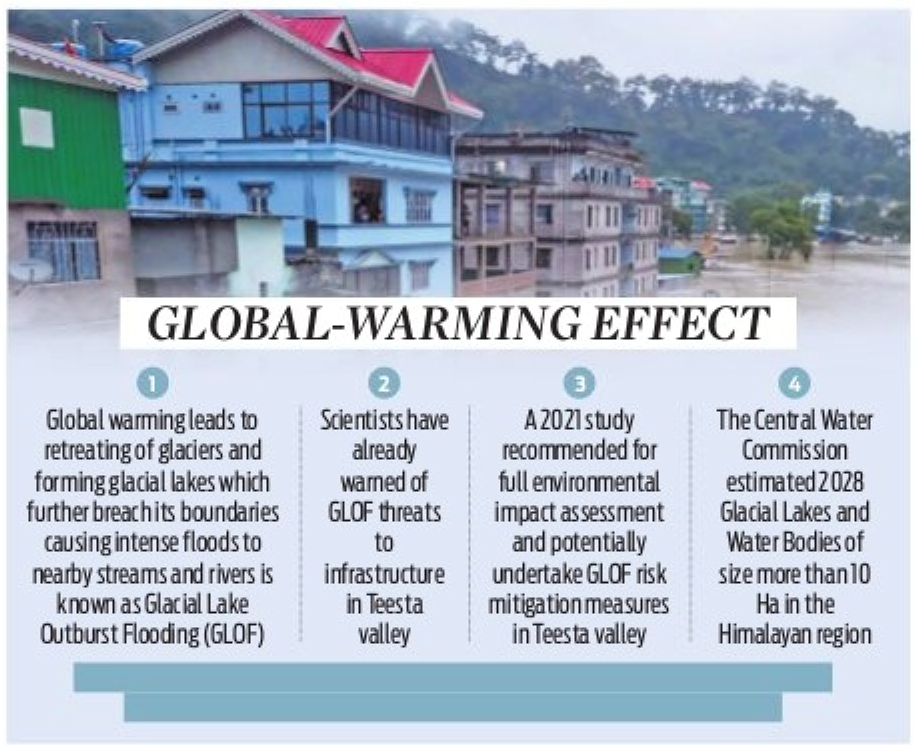
Glacial lakes are formed due to melting of glaciers. When the water of glacial lakes breach their boundaries causing release of huge amounts of floods to nearby streams and rivers is known as Glacial Lake Outburst Flood. The threat of GLOF has increased as global warming induces glacier to retreat at a faster rate.

According to the Central Water Commission (CWC), there are 2028 glacial lakes and water bodies of size more than 10 Ha in the Himalayan region catchment which contribute to rivers flowing in India. Of these, 1,169 glacial lakes/water bodies are located in the elevation zone 4,000m above sea level. The Teesta basin in Sikkim Himalaya hosts numerous glacial lakes in the high altitude glacierised region, including the largest and the fastest-growing south Lhonak Lake.

Environmentalists have estimated that over 200 glacial lakes are vulnerable to outburst. Studies have shown that infrastructure like dams, many settlements and assets are exposed to GLOFs in the Teesta valley.

"It indicates the need to conduct a full environmental impact assessment and potentially undertake GLOF risk mitigation measures," said Ashim Sattar, Department of Geology and Environmental Geosciences, University of Dayton, USA. Sattar co-authored a paper in 2021 on Future GLOF hazard of the South Lhonak Lake, Sikkim Himalaya.

Environmentalists have long sought attention of hundreds of remote glacial lakes on unsettled mountain valleys. "While these lakes are mainly located in remote and unsettled mountain valleys, far-reaching GLOF may damage assets up to tens of kilometers downstream," Sattar said.



GLOBAL-WARMING EFFECT

① Global warming leads to retreating of glaciers and forming glacial lakes which further breach its boundaries causing intense floods to nearby streams and rivers is known as Glacial Lake Outburst Flooding (GLOF)

② Scientists have already warned of GLOF threats to infrastructure in Teesta valley

③ A 2021 study recommended for full environmental impact assessment and potentially undertake GLOF risk mitigation measures in Teesta valley

④ The Central Water Commission estimated 2028 Glacial Lakes and Water Bodies of size more than 10 Ha in the Himalayan region

Why is it difficult to forecast cloud bursting?

Cloud burst is a small-scale phenomenon which satellites cannot detect with precision. Mrutyunjay Mohapatra, Director General of Meteorology, IMD, explained the resolution of the Indian satellite is 4 sq m in infra-red range, while cloudburst is a single cloud that may be of 1 sq Km or less than that.

Lakshadweep MP disqualified for 2nd time in 1 yr

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

A day after the Kerala High Court refused to suspend the conviction of Lakshadweep MP Mohammed Faizal, a notification from the Lok Sabha Secretariat announced Faizal's disqualification from Lok Sabha membership. This marks the second disqualification of Faizal as a Lok Sabha member within the same year.

"In view of the order dated 03.10.2023 of the Hon'ble High Court of Kerala, Shri Mohammed Faizal P.P, Member of Lok Sabha representing the Lakshadweep Parliamentary Constituency of the Union Territory of Lakshadweep, stands disqualified from the membership of Lok Sabha from the date of his conviction, i.e., 11th January, 2023, in terms of the provisions of Article 102(1)(e) of the Constitution read with Section 8 of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, subject to further judicial pronouncements," read the notification.

In January of this year, Faizal was disqualified as an MP after being convicted in an attempted murder case in the union territory. However, on March 29, he was reinstated as an MP based on a stay order issued by the Kerala High Court. On Tuesday, the Kerala High Court rejected Faizal's plea to suspend his conviction in the murder attempt case.

The bench of Justice N Nagaresh considered the matter after the Supreme Court on August 23 set aside the high court's earlier order suspending his conviction and 10 years of imprisonment.

Finally, Indian envoy presents credentials to Maldives Prez

Plans to revive India-Maldives relation

President Muizzu said that he hoped to revive Maldives-India relations based on respect for sovereignty, and enhance the bond between both the countries to new heights. Muizzu also expressed hopes to restructure the repayment of loans taken by the outgoing administration. India has extended grants in aid to Maldives for developmental projects and has assisted them under the Neighbourhood First policy.

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

INDIA'S High Commissioner to Maldives, Munu Muhawar, met the newly elected Maldivian President Dr Mohammad Muizzu on Wednesday.

The new President is from the Progressive Party of Maldives.

"It was a pleasure to call on President Muizzu and handed over a congratulatory message from Prime Minister Narendra Modi," said Muhawar.

Indian High Commissioner was the third envoy who met the Maldivian President. The first was the British High Commissioner to Male Caron Röhsler, followed by Chinese Ambassador Wang Lixin.

Meanwhile, President Muizzu said that he hoped to revive Maldives-India relations based on the principles of respect for sovereignty, and enhance the bond between both the countries to new heights.

He said that the Maldivians decided to protect the country's sovereignty, and expressed confidence India will respect the decision. Muizzu expressed hopes to restructure the repayment of loans taken by the outgoing administration.

Mahawar responded by reaffirming India's commitment to enhancing Maldives-India relations and providing full support in fulfilling Maldives' developmental needs.

President Muizzu will be sworn in on November 17. On his first day of office, he announced that foreign military – which implied Indian soldiers – should leave as this was what the country's citizens desired.

India has extended grants in aid to Maldives for developmental projects and has assisted them under the Neighbourhood First policy.

Govt agrees to tweak law for ease-of-doing biz on Ayush

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

THE Centre has agreed to drop a crucial rule in the Drugs and Cosmetic Act, which was specially introduced to prevent misleading advertisements of Ayush medicines, to promote ease of doing business.

Rule 170 was omitted from the Drugs and Cosmetic Act in May.

However, despite experts seeking the reason behind the same, there was no response from the Ayush ministry. In a letter, the Ayush ministry said that the 'decision for the omission of Rule 170 was a conscious decision, considering policy of the government to promote ease of doing business.'

The letter was in response to RTI activist Dr KV Babu, who had asked the ministry why such an important rule was omitted. It said the decision was taken by the Ayurveda, Siddha, Unani Drugs Technical Advisory Board in its meeting on March 15, 2021. ASUDTAB advises both the Centre and the state government on technical matters.

It added that on May 25, the matter related to Rule 170 of Drugs and Cosmetics Rules, 1945 was discussed under agenda item 3, and it had been recommended by the board to proceed with final notification for the omission of Rules 170 and its related provisions mentioned in D&C Rules, 1945.

It, however, said that the Pharmacovigilance programme of Ayush has been strengthened across the country and is proactively reporting all such misleading advertisements.

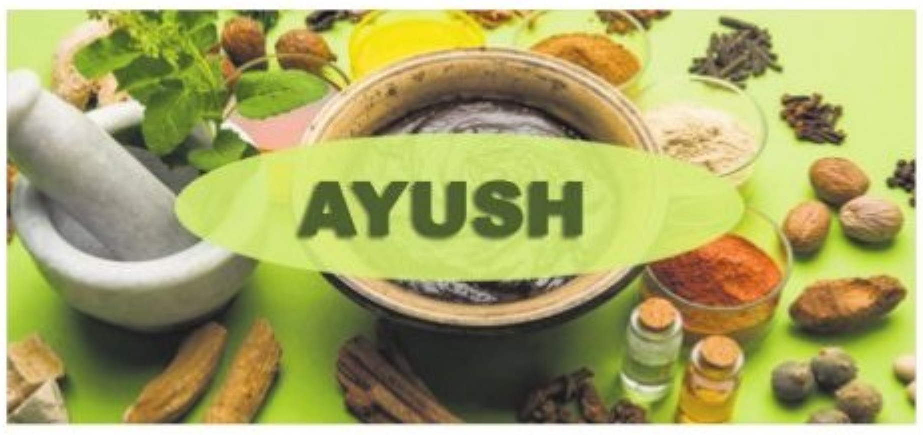
"Therefore, omission of Rule 170 will not in any way compromise with the set goal of curbing misleading advertisement and existing other mechanisms can effectively check the same," the letter, dated October 3, said.

However, Kerala-based Babu said that despite the claims of the ministry that vigilance against such misleading ads has been strengthened; Yoga guru Ramdev's Divya Pharmacy ads on "controlling and completely curing diseases like BP, Diabetes, arthritis and asthma" were published in two leading newspapers on September 30.

"It is clear that the ASUDTAB decision of omission of Rule 170 is in keeping with government policy of promoting the ease of doing business in the country, which will help the Ayush pharma industry. Unfortunately, it is at the cost of the health of our hapless citizens," Babu said.

He said that Rule 170 was inserted in December 2018 following solid recommendations from the 108th Parliamentary Standing Committee on Health in March 2018. The committee believed that the existing laws were insufficient to prohibit misleading advertisements and to strengthen the effective regulations of AYUSH drugs, Rule 170 was inserted.

"It is very unfortunate that the decision of ASUDTAB will overturn the recommendations of the Standing Committee. This will be disastrous for the health of the citizens," said Babu.



What does the Act say?

The Drugs and Magic Remedies (Objectionable Advertisement) Act, 1954, was enacted by the Centre to prohibit the advertisement for certain purposes of remedies alleged to possess magic qualities and to provide for matters connected in addition to that.

What does the list include?

Prepared by the Department of Military Affairs after extensive consultations, this list emphasises import substitution for major systems, platforms, sensors, and munitions expected to yield orders in the next five to ten years. Notable items encompass Futuristic Infantry Combat Vehicles, Naval Ship borne Unmanned Aerial Systems, and more. This list serves as a roadmap for domestic industry players, encouraging them to develop research and manufacturing capacity within the country.

India releases fifth positive indigenisation list of 98 items

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

INDIA has unveiled its fifth Positive Indigenisation List, featuring 98 items, as part of efforts to boost self-reliance in defence and innovation. Defence Minister Rajnath Singh unveiled the list during the 'Swavlamban 2.0' seminar in New Delhi, where he also made significant announcements.

The list includes complex systems, sensors, weapons, and ammunition, all to be procured from indigenous sources over time, following the Defence Acquisition Procedure 2020.

Prepared by the Department of Military Affairs (DMA) after extensive consultations, this list emphasises import substitution for major systems, platforms, weapon systems, sensors, and munitions expected to yield orders in the next five to ten years. Notable items encompass Futuristic Infantry Combat Vehicles, Articulated All-Terrain Vehicles, Remotely Piloted Airborne Vehicles, Naval Ship borne Unmanned Aerial Systems, and more.

This list serves as a roadmap for domestic industry players, encouraging them to develop the necessary research and manufacturing capacity within the country.

Additionally, Rajnath Singh launched challenges for the industry under Defence India Start-up Challenges (DISC 10) and released the Indian Navy's updated Indigenisation Roadmap 'Swavlamban 2.0'.

Chief of the Naval Staff Admiral R Hari Kumar highlighted the Navy's commitment to innovation and commended the industry for its contributions.

LICENCE CANCELLED

The Allahabad HC stayed the government's order of suspending the licence of Sanjay Gandhi Hospital in Amethi. A patient, who went into a coma during surgery as they were kept waiting for 30 hours, had died.

CM, Dy CMs hold meet

CM Eknath Shinde, DCM Devendra Fadnavis and DCM Ajit Pawar had a closed door meeting at Varsha bungalow recently where they discussed distributions of guardian ministry. Ajit was earlier unhapppy over delay in allocation.

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AFTER grabbing cream portfolios, Maharashtra deputy chief minister Ajit Pawar-led NCP faction on Wednesday got guardian ministries of key districts in the state.

Senior BJP minister Chandrakant Patil was removed as guardian minister of Pune and replaced by DCM Ajit Pawar. The demoted Patil has been given the guardian ministry of less important districts of Amarawati and Solapur. Shiv Sena Minister Deepak Kesarkar lost Kolhapur district guardian ministry as he has been replaced by NCP minister Hasan Mushriff. NCP minister Dhanjay Munde has been appointed as guardian minister of his home district Beed.

BJP minister Vijay Kumar Gavit has been replaced as guardian minister of tribal district Nandurbar by NCP minister Anil Bhaidas Patil. Gavit has been appointed as guardian minister of Bhandara district.

NCP minister Dilip Walse Patil is the guardian minister of Buldhana district, while another NCP minister Sanjay Bansod has got Parbhani district. BJP minister Sudhir Mungantiwar has given responsibility of Wardha district as guardian minister.

Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde, DCM Devendra Fadnavis and DCM Ajit Pawar had a closed door meeting at Varsha bungalow recently where the discussions over distributions of guardian ministry were held.

Ajit Pawar had earlier expressed his displeasure by not attending the cabinet meeting last Tuesday over delay in appointment of guardian ministers of his party ministers and allocations of remaining portfolios.

Earlier, Fadnavis had hinted to his party workers and leaders that BJP is the big brother in the government and they have to be ready to make sacrifices to accommodate partners.

The contentious districts like Raigad, Satara and Nashik districts are yet get guardian ministers because of multiple claims. The three parties in alliance — BJP, NCP and Shiv Sena-Shinde — yet to get clarity over appointment of guardian ministers.

Sources said the government will soon announce the appointment of state boards and co-operations. "BJP wants to keep 40 co-operations boards, while Shiv Sena and NCP will have 25 each. However, Shiv Sena has not agreed to this formula and is demanding more co-ops and boards for more leaders of their party," a source said.

Kharge says PM's 'ploy' will not work in '24 polls

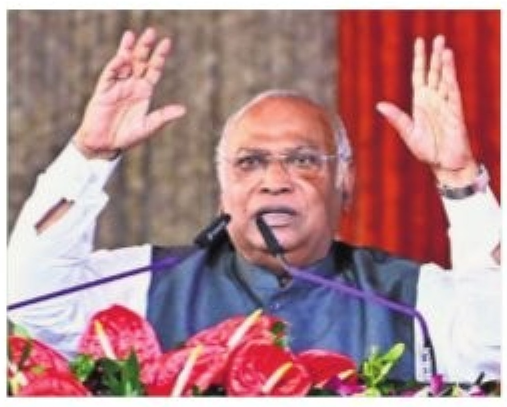
PM Modi is a leader of liars who defames the Congress party whenever he visits Chhattisgarh. Chief ministers of other states too get threats of raids from ED, IT if they do not listen to him

Mallikarjun Kharge, Congress president

'No visit to Manipur'

Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge pointed out that PM Modi can often visit the poll-bound states but doesn't think of going to Manipur that is witnessing violence and riots for the past six months. The government is run only by Modi and Shah.

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur



LAUNCHING a blistering attack on PM Modi, Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge on Wednesday described him as a 'teller of lies' and said that his 'ploy' will not continue in 2024 as there is a growing realisation among the people of the country.

Participating in the Chhattisgarh government's Bharose Ka Sammelan at Raigarh district about 220 km from Raipur, he said that had the Congress not safeguarded the Constitution and democracy both Modi and Amit Shah can never become the PM and the home minister.

"PM Modi is a leader of liars ("jhoothon ke sardar") who defames the Congress party whenever he visits Chhattisgarh. Chief ministers of other states too get threats of raids from ED, IT and other agencies if they do not listen to him. They (BJP) talk about parivarvad (dynasty politics) but tell me who from the Gandhi family ever became the PM after 1989," said the Congress leader.

Further accusing the Modi government of selling the national assets and allegedly damaging good institutions, Kharge said PM Modi can often visit the poll-bound states but doesn't think of going to Manipur that is witnessing violence and riots for the past six months. "Today the government in the Centre is run only by Modi and Shah", he stated and targeted the Jan Sangh, Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) and BJP calling their ideology as 'anti-women'.

"It was Congress that brought reservation for women in panchayat bodies and Modi claims the Congress didn't pursue the women's reservation bill. Be it BJP, RSS or Jan Sangh, they don't wish women to come forward. They should implement the women's reservation law but I know it will not be done before 2034," the Congress president said.

A day after PM Modi visited Bastar where he slammed the Congress over its remark on caste census, Kharge reiterated the Congress demand on caste-based census to be familiar with the details of the backward classes and poor people. The PM had cited the 'poor of the country as the biggest caste'. Comparing BJP with Congress, he asserted that the saffron party harasses and deceives people but Congress guarantees for creating employment, supporting the poor and raising minimum support price for farmers. He along with the CM Bhupesh Baghel laid the foundation stone for constructing Jaitkhambh.

Gehlot challenges Modi ahead of polls

Rahul Gandhi's recent comment that "we are winning in MP-Chhattisgarh, but the contest in Rajasthan is very close" has stirred a political chatter. In response, Rajasthan's chief minister Ashok Gehlot has taken this as a direct challenge to his leadership and the strength of the Congress in the state. He has thrown down the gauntlet to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, demanding a guarantee that the central government will not halt state's ongoing development schemes. This move, however, was met with Modi suggesting that Gehlot's request signifies his apprehension about an impending electoral loss.

Trouble brews in Cong election strategy

A political feud brewing between Naresh Arora, founder of Design Box, a company hired for strategy and campaign for the state election, and state Congress president Govind Singh Dotasara, grabbing headlines. Dotasara's discontent with Design Box's working approach has sparked a public spat, drawing attention to campaign strategies and slogans for the forthcoming elections. The situation reached such a boiling point that CM Ashok Gehlot personally visited Dotasara's residence to mediate. Arora has denied any controversy on Twitter, expressing respect for Rahul Gandhi.

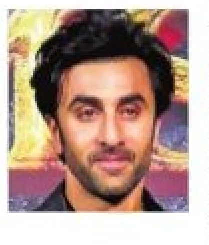
Buzz after PM Modi's election campaign

Prime Minister Narendra Modi's election campaigns in Rajasthan have been creating quite a buzz, and it appears that he has only fuelled the speculation. During a gathering in Sanwaria Seth, Chittorgarh, Modi declared that there's just one face in the upcoming assembly elections: the 'Kamal' (Lotus), symbolising the BJP. He emphasised the need for BJP workers to unite in support of their candidate symbolised by the Kamal. Interestingly, in a recent Jaipur meeting, neither former Chief Minister Vasundhara Raje nor the achievements of her previous BJP government were mentioned. The political drama in Rajasthan continues to unfold.

Ranbir Kapoor called by ED in gaming app case

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

BOLLYWOOD actor Ranbir Kapoor has been summoned by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) on October 6 in connection with an online betting case. However, he is likely to attend the questioning of ED on October 10.



According to the ED, Kapoor promoted Mahadev Book app by allegedly taking a huge sum of money in cash for the promotion for this App. The ED probe suggests that Kapoor was paid by promoters of the app in lieu for endorsing it on social media. The amount is now considered 'proceeds of crime'. The ED has not yet revealed the amount the actors, including Kapoor, and influencers received for the promotion.

Mahadev Book app, an online betting platform, is being probed by the ED and police departments of several states. The app enabled illegal betting on various online games. ED is likely to summon some other top Bollywood actors too.

78% voting in 1st Ladakh hill council polls after nullification of Article 370

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

ABOUT 78 per cent people in Kargil district of Ladakh Union Territory voted for the Ladakh Autonomous Hill Development Council (LAHDC) Kargil polls on Wednesday. It was the first poll in the cold desert after the abrogation of J&K's Special status and creation of Ladakh UT by downgrading and dividing erstwhile J&K state into two UTs on August 5, 2019.

The polling started on a brisk note in Kargil district in the morning and long queues of people were present at the polling stations. About 77.61 percent people exercised their right to franchise.

The counting of votes will take place on October 8. In the polls, NC and Congress have joined hands to fight BJP. The two parties have entered into seat sharing arrangements against BJP.

The NC and Congress have the backing of two powerful religious institutions — Jamiat Ulema Kargil (Islamia School) and Imam Khumaini Memorial Trust. The clerics of two religious institutions have appealed to people to vote against the BJP.

Big voter turnout

78% of people in Kargil district of Ladakh UT voted for the Ladakh Autonomous Hill Development Council (LAHDC)

COUNCIL COMPOSITION

- LAHDC has 30 members
- 26 elected, 4 nominated

PARTIES IN FRAY

- BJP contesting on 17 seats
- NC has fielded 17 candidates
- Congress contesting 22 seats

Counting on Oct 8

Kargil has a population of 1.40 lakh with Shia Muslims in majority. The Kargil Hill Council has over 95,388 registered voters and out of them 46762 are females.

The LAHDC Kargil comprises 30 members. Of the 30 members, 26 are elected while four others are nominated by the administration.

There were 85 candidates in the fray for 26 seats. BJP is contesting on 17 seats and supporting some independent candidates. NC has fielded 17 candidates and Congress is contesting 22 seats.

Kargil has a population of 1.40 lakh with Shia Muslims in majority. The Kargil Hill council has over 95,388 registered voters and out of them 46762 are females. Today's vote for LAHDC Kargil holds significance as it is the first time since abrogation of Article 370 and bifurcation of J&K state into two UTs that people in Kargil are voting in any polls.

The political observers are seeing the polling as a sort of referendum saying if the NC and Congress wrest control of the LAHDC Kargil, then they can claim that people have rejected August 5, 2019 decisions and if BJP manages to win the polls, the saffron party can claim that people have endorsed their August 2019 decisions.

The poll result assumes significance as it is being held ahead of the parliamentary polls and can offer an insight into the electoral sentiment of people. The polls for LAHDC Kargil are being held in the backdrop of stir launched by Leh Apex Body and KDA.

Now, 25 die in Nagpur govt hospital in 24 hrs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mumbai

A Nagpur hospital has reported at least 25 deaths in 24 hours due to various reasons, officials said on Wednesday.

The deaths in the government-run Mayo Hospital in Nagpur—hometown of Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis and Union Minister Nitin Gadkari—come against the backdrop of 59 deaths reported in Nanded and Aurangabad government hospitals due to alleged shortage of medicines.

"The patients who die at the hospital are mostly those who are last-minute referrals and require Intensive Care Unit (ICU) admission. Such patients are brought in a critical condition," a senior health official said.

Continuing its attack over the deaths in government-run hospitals, Lok Sabha MP and NCP (Sharad Pawar faction) senior leader Supriya Sule in a post on X (formerly Twitter) said, "Fear does not end here and the health system has collapsed and the government is sleeping".

"After Thane, Nanded and Chhatrapati Sambhajinagar [incidents], now 25 patients have also died in Nagpur. CM, Deputy CM have time to visit New Delhi, but not for these hospitals," Sule said.

Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde has ordered the probe into the Nanded and Aurangabad hospitals deaths.

Congress' Leader of Opposition (Assembly) Vijay Wadettiwar visited the two hospitals while Shiv Sena (UBT)'s Leader of Opposition (Council) Ambadas Danve toured the Nanded hospital.

Danve said patients complained to him of various problems plaguing in the hospital and how due to a "delay in performing a cesarean section operation", a pregnant woman and her unborn child died there.

Toll 78

With the latest spike in deaths, at least 78 people, including nearly 30 infants, have died owing to different lapses including alleged shortages of medicines, equipment, medical or staffers, in government hospitals in the last three days.

Gomti and Brandy get emotional farewell at Corbett Tiger Reserve

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

GOMTI, a remarkable female elephant, dedicated 40 years of unwavering service to the Corbett Tiger Reserve Park (CTR). Her retirement was marked by an emotional farewell organised by senior officers and staff at the Aamdanda Gate. This momentous event also saw the retirement of 'Brandy,' a loyal dog who had faithfully served CTR for a prescribed period.

According to CTR officials, Gomti had been brought to the park from Assam four decades ago, where she contributed significantly to various important campaigns. In accordance with the standards set by the National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA), Gomti retired at the age of 65. Simultaneously, the sniffer dog, Brandy, was retired after serving 12 years, during which he played a crucial role in multiple campaigns.

During the farewell ceremony, the director of CTR awarded Gomti's mahouts, Subedar Ali (retired), Nisar Ali (retired), and Farrukh Khan, with a medal and citation on her behalf. Witnesses recall the touching moment when tears welled up in Gomti's eyes, leaving everyone present deeply moved and surprised.

EXPRESS

Gomti was awarded a medal by Dr Dheeraj Pandey, Director, Corbett Tiger reserve

The retirement ceremony for the 65-year-old Gomti and the 12-year-old Brandy took place as per the schedule at Corbett Park. Dr. Dheeraj Pandey, Director of Corbett Tiger Reserve Park, expressed, "Throughout her 40 years of service, Gomati became an integral part of the Corbett Park community, serving with unwavering dedication and affection."

Corbett officials proudly highlight Gomti's gentle and disciplined nature. They recount her notable achievements, such as successfully rescuing a tiger in the Bagjhala area near Garjia Temple in 1987. In 2010, she played a pivotal role in eliminating a man-eating tiger in Sundarkhal village. In 2012, Gomti was instrumental in rescuing a wild elephant in Rishikesh. In 2019, she played a role in rescuing a man-eating tiger in Dhikala.

Gujarat govt fails to spend funds for kids' uniform

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

THE Gujarat government allocation of funds for procuring uniforms for children and women wokers at Anganwadi centres' remains unspent. Official government records paint a concerning picture.

Over a three-year period, despite allocating a substantial sum of ₹11,707.72 lakh rupees, not a single uniform was purchased for these children.

Similarly, the government had earmarked ₹2,710.00 lakh over the same three years for providing sarees to Anganwadi workers, but these funds too remained unutilised.

In response to a question posed by Congress MLA Chirag Patel from Khambhat in the Gujarat Assembly on September 14, 2023, the Women and Child Welfare Department of the Government of Gujarat revealed that from 2020-21 to 2022-23, significant sums were allocated for children's uniforms, with 3788.12 lakhs, 3959.80 lakhs, and 3959.80 lakhs respectively. Not a single rupee was spent from the allocated amount.

REPRESENTATIONAL

Chandrika Solanki, the president of the Gujarat Anganwadi Association and a member of the Aam Aadmi Party, criticised the government for its indifference to the plight of underprivileged children.

She expressed concern that even if these children attended school in tattered clothing, the government appeared unmoved. Solanki argued that the government's excuses for not utilising these grants were unjustified, given the persistent issues of malnutrition and deteriorating schools in Gujarat.

The government explained in the Legislative Assembly that the delay in uniform procurement in 2020-21 was due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Efforts to purchase uniforms began in 2022-23 but could not be completed by March 31, 2023, resulting in unspent funds. However, Chandrika Solanki contended that these reasons were mere pretexts and accused the government of exploiting the grant for the benefit of its party supporters through a corrupt tendering process.

The lack of expenditure extended beyond children's uniforms to funds allocated for purchasing sarees for Anganwadi women over the past three years.

In response to a question by Congress MLA Arvind Ladani, the government revealed that substantial amounts were earmarked in each of the three years but remained untouched— ₹834.06 lakh in 2020-21, ₹834.06 lakh in 2021-22, and ₹1042.58 lakh in 2022-23.

The government set aside a generous grant of 2,710.7 lakh rupees for sari purchases spanning three years, yet not a single rupee was utilised.

Delay due to COVID-19

The government explained in the Legislative Assembly that the delay in uniform procurement in 2020-21 was due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Efforts to purchase uniforms began in 2022-23 but could not be completed by March 31, 2023, resulting in unspent funds. However, Chandrika Solanki contended that these reasons were mere pretexts and accused the government of exploiting the grant for the benefit of its party supporters via corrupt tendering process.

Pope Francis opens major congress on the Church's future amid tensions

Pope Francis | AFP

VATICAN CITY

POPE Francis opened a major congress on the Catholic Church's future on Wednesday, vowing open doors to "everyone" despite tensions with conservatives on issues from LGBTQ faithful to the treatment of divorcees.

The general assembly of the Synod of Bishops gathers in the wake of an unprecedented two-year global consultation that will also address topics such as women deacons and priestly celibacy. It will take place over four weeks in Rome. The pope stressed welcome in his opening address, seeking to make the Church of 1.3 billion faithful more tolerant amid changing social norms and demographics, including the growth of Christianity outside the West. "The Church is here for you! The Church of open doors is for everyone, everyone, everyone," said the 86-year-old at a large mass in St Peter's Square. "In such a complex time as ours, new cultural and pastoral challenges emerge that call for a warm and kindly inner attitude so that we can encounter each other without fear," he said.

Warning against "a rigid Church," the Argentine pontiff said he hoped the forum would avoid "human strategies, political calculations or ideological battles."

However, he said the intention was not to carry out "a parliamentary meeting or a plan of reformation. No. We are here to walk together with the gaze of Jesus."

A second session of the assembly is scheduled for October 2024, meaning that no concrete decisions are expected any time soon.

NOBEL CHEMISTRY PRIZE

Trio's work on quantum dots honoured

STOCKHOLM

THREE scientists in the United States won the Nobel Prize in chemistry on Wednesday for their work on quantum dots — particles just a few atoms in diameter that can release very bright coloured light and whose applications in everyday life include electronics and medical imaging. Moungi Bawendi, of MIT; Louis Brus, of Columbia University; and Alexei Ekimov, of Nanocrystals Technology Inc., were honored for their work with the tiny particles that "have unique properties and now spread their light from television screens and LED lamps," according to the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences.

They brought advances on tiny particles that "now spread their light from televisions and LED lamps, and can also guide surgeons when they remove tumour tissue", the jury said.

"Why does it matter, right, that we can make tiny particles that nobody can see, but they have colours?" said Pernilla Witting Stafshede, a member of Nobel committee that awarded the prize. "This is actually used today both in medicine and technology. ... We have displays on TVs, in your cellphone, that use quantum dots inside to make just brighter colours."

The suspense surrounding the academy's decision took an unusual turn when Swedish media reported the names of the winners several hours before the prize was announced.

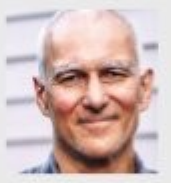
The advance notice apparently came from a news release sent out early by mistake.

A committee for each prize discusses candidates in secret in a series of meetings throughout the year. Nobel leaks are very rare, with the various prize-awarding committees going to great lengths to keep the winners' names under wraps.

Agencies

ALEXEI EKIMOV: He created size-dependent quantum effects in coloured glass in the early 1980s. He successfully demonstrated that the particle size affected the colour of the glass via quantum effects

LOUIS BRUS: A longtime professor and an alumnus of the University of Columbia, Brus was the first scientist in the world to demonstrate size-dependent quantum effects in particles floating freely in a fluid



MOUNGI BAWENDI: Bawendi revolutionised the chemical production of quantum dots in 1993, resulting in almost perfect particles. This high quality was necessary for them to be utilised in various applications

PARTICLES THAT GLOW

The dots are nanoparticles that glow blue, red, or green when illuminated or exposed to light. The colour they emit depends on the size of the particles. Larger dots shine red, and smaller dots shine blue. The colour change is due to how electrons act in more or less confined spaces. While physicists had predicted these colour-change properties as early as the 1930s, creating quantum dots of specific controlled sizes was not possible. Ekimov and Brus were early pioneers of the technology, while Bawendi revolutionised the production of quantum dots "resulting in almost perfect particles"

TikTok halts retail biz after ban

TikTok said it will halt its online retail operation in Indonesia on Wednesday to comply with the country's decision to ban e-commerce transactions on social media platforms—a big blow to the video platform's fastest-growing market. The government announced the new regulation, which prohibits social media companies from facilitating sales of products on their platforms. The Chinese-owned video sharing app said it will stop facilitating e-commerce sales in TikTok Shop Indonesia by 5 pm on Wednesday premier vows action after mall shooting

Thailand's PM on Wednesday vowed "preventive measures" after a shooting at a Bangkok shopping mall. Shoppers returned in dribs and drabs as the Siam Paragon mall reopened less than 24 hours after the shooting. PM Srettha Thavisin joined a minute's silence at the mall before offering the government's condolences to the families of two victims. "I am confident Siam Paragon and government officials did their best to minimise the casualties and damage," he said. "My government insists we will give priority to preventive measures," he added, without giving details

Russia says it foiled Ukrainian attack, shot down 31 drones

MOSCOW

RUSSIAN air defences shot down 31 Ukrainian drones during a concerted nighttime attack by Kyiv's forces on border regions, the Russian Defence Ministry said on Wednesday.

The drone attack appeared to be Kyiv's largest single cross-border drone assault reported by Moscow since it launched its invasion. There were no immediate reports of any damage or casualties.

The Russian Defence Ministry didn't provide any evidence for its claims about intercepting Ukrainian drones nor any details about any damage or casualties.

It also said Russian aircraft thwarted a Ukrainian attempt to deploy a group of soldiers by sea to the western side of Russian-annexed Crimea. The force attempted to land on Cape Tarkhankut, on Crimea's western end, using a high-speed boat and three jet skis, the ministry said.

Moscow's claims could not be independently verified, and Ukrainian officials made no immediate comment.

Meanwhile, a court in Moscow on Wednesday sentenced a former state TV journalist 8.5 years in prison in absentia for protesting Russia's war in Ukraine.

Marina Ovsyannikova was charged with spreading false information about the Russian army, a criminal offense under a law adopted shortly after President Vladimir Putin sent troops to Ukraine.

She staged a protest near the Kremlin in July 2022, holding a sign that said, "Putin is a killer. His soldiers are fascists. 352 children have been killed. How many more children need to die for you to stop?" AP

21 killed as tourist bus falls off bridge in Italy

Rome : FLAGS flew at half-mast over Venice on Wednesday after 21 people including a toddler were killed when a bus careered off an overpass and caught fire. "The bus flipped upside down. The impact was terrible because it fell from over 10 metres" landing next to railway tracks below, said Mauro Luongo, the commander of Venice's fire brigade. The dead are thought to be mostly tourists returned from Venice's historic centre to a camping site on Tuesday evening. Fifteen others were injured in what Venice Mayor Luigi Brugnaro described as "an apocalyptic scene". Firefighters said the bus was electric, despite the Italian interior minister earlier saying it ran on methane. They spent hours extracting bodies from the charred remains of the bus, which was finally removed from the site in the early hours of Wednesday. "Among the difficulties was the fact that the bus was electric so it had batteries. AFP

Speaker voted out of US House for the 1st time ever

Speaker of the US House of Representatives Kevin McCarthy is surrounded by press and police on the way to the chamber, at the Capitol in Washington on Tuesday | AP

WASHINGTON

LAWMAKERS screamed and bickered in a raucous session Tuesday that eventually yielded to a stunned silence: for the first time in US history the House of Representatives had removed its own speaker.

Eight Republicans led by Congressman Matt Gaetz voted against McCarthy along with the Democrats in a 216 to 210 votes on Tuesday afternoon. Congressman Patrick McHenry was declared Speaker pro tempore as the two parties chalk out their future action.

This is the first time since 1910 that the House of Representatives voted on whether to remove a sitting Speaker.

"The reason Kevin McCarthy went down today is because nobody trusts Kevin McCarthy. Kevin McCarthy has made multiple contradictory promises. And when they all came due, he lost votes from people who maybe don't even ideologically agree with me on everything," Gaetz told reporters.

Gaetz and his team were upset that McCarthy entered into a deal with the Democrats to prevent a government shutdown.

On September 30, the House of Representatives voted to pass a continuing resolution with the support of more Democrats than Republicans which was quickly passed by the Senate and signed by the President. The new deadline to fund the government is November 17.

"Today's vote to remove Kevin McCarthy as Speaker of the House is an unprecedented action that showcases the dysfunction and infighting within the House Republican Caucus," Indian American Congressman from the Democratic Party Ami Bera said.

"As Members of Congress, we have been entrusted with the responsibility to do what is best for the American people through bipartisanship and compromise," he said.

"However, instead of working on critical issues facing our country, including a delayed government shutdown, extreme Republicans in Congress have taken historic steps that could bring the People's House to a screeching halt. This is a reckless and irresponsible use of both time and government resources while there is serious work to do for the American people," he said.

The Washington Post and The New York Times reported that McCarthy had told his associates that he would not run for the post of Speaker again. "His removal underscored the bitter Republican divisions that have festered all year..." NYT reported.

Curfew in Nepal town near India after communal clashes

KATHMANDU

AUTHORITIES in Nepalgunj, a town in Nepal bordering India, have imposed an indefinite curfew after at least 22 people were injured in communal clashes, officials said on Wednesday.

At least 22 people, including five security personnel, were injured on Tuesday in a communal clash, triggered by a social media post, in Nepalgunj, approximately 400 kilometres west of Kathmandu.

Following the clash, the Banke district administration imposed an indefinite curfew starting at 1.00 pm on Tuesday in the town, which borders Uttar Pradesh.

Banke's Chief District Officer Bipin Acharya said the curfew has been intensified, and people entering Nepal via the Jamunaha border point are being escorted to their destinations. The district administration will hold an all-party meeting at the earliest to calm the situation in the town, he said in a statement. According to Jamunaha's police beat's senior superintendent of police Min Bahadur Bista, so far 1,500 Nepalis who arrived from India have been safely escorted up to the point from where they could reach their destinations.

Nepalis are returning home from various places in India including Shimla, Kalapahad, and Delhi via Jamunaha point in the district, he said. PTI

Lenders of Jet Airways question JKC's fund source

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

LENDERS of Jet Airways on Wednesday raised questions on the source of Jalan Kalrock Consortium's (JKC) funds to take over the grounded airline and even alleged chances of money laundering.

This development comes after the JKC had last week announced that it has paid ₹350 crore to the lenders towards the revival of the grounded airline which flew last on April 17, 2019.

Jet Airways' Committee of Creditors (CoC) at a National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) hearing on Wednesday said that JKC's source of money is doubtful and the money received from them has come from several accounts. Additional Solicitor General (ASG) N Venkatraman, who was representing the lenders, alleged that the money deposited could have been laundered.

The lenders also expressed apprehensions about the consortium's foreign partner Florian Fritsch whose properties were searched in 2022 by European agencies in connection with a money laundering probe.

JKC is led by UAE-based businessman Murari Lal Jalan and London-based Kalrock Capital, which is promoted by Fritsch.

The consortium's lawyer denied the serious allegations related to the source of their funds. Senior advocate Krishnendu Dutta, appearing for JKC, said that the majority of the money has been paid by Murari Lal Jalan and all funds were transferred as per the resolution plan.

Dutta said that the creditors have raised the allegations as they don't want to transfer the ownership of the airline to them. JKC in a separate statement said, "We highly question the lenders' intent to transfer the ownership of the company in favour of JKC after JKC has executed all its obligations under the court-approved resolution plan by paying the full amount of ₹350 crore.

This is in light of the latest application filed by the CoC (committee of creditors) to stay the implementation of the approved resolution plan recently in NCLT." The NCLAT has directed the lenders to file their objections by the next date of hearing.

TMB: Wrong credit due to technical glitch

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Chennai

TAMILNAD Mercantile Bank (TMB) has clarified that the wrong credit of ₹9,000 crore, which happened last month, was due to a technical glitch in its internal systems, and not the fault of the national payment corporation of India (NPCI).

The technical glitch led to the error in processing the credit to the customer, the bank said in an exchange filing, adding that the mistake was noticed and corrective action was taken immediately. Additional controls are already implemented in our internal systems to avoid recurrence of such mistakes in future, it said. The bank said it didn't incur any financial losses due to the error. On September 21, ₹9,000 crore was deposited in the bank account of a cab driver in Chennai. The bank officials contacted him soon and told him that the money was credited by mistake.

Sensex, Nifty down 4% in 12 sessions

From 67,927 points on September 15, Sensex closed the Wednesday session at 65,226

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

INDIA'S equity market continues to reel under selling pressure as rise in the US dollar and treasury yields on expectations of another interest rate hike by the Federal Reserve has made investors, especially foreign institutional investors (FIIs), nervous.

Combined with the weakness caused by the steep rise in crude oil prices, the benchmark indexes- Sensex and Nifty50 – have fallen about 4% each in the past 12 trading sessions (September 16-October 4).

Sensex, which peaked at 67,927 points on September 15, closed the Wednesday session at 65,226- its lowest closing since August 31. The broader Nifty 50 index fell by 0.47% on Wednesday to close at 19,436, its lowest since September 1. Nifty peaked at 20,222 on September 15.

Investors have lost nearly ₹7 lakh crore in the last 12 sessions as the market capitalisation of all BSE-listed firms has come down from ₹328 lakh crore to ₹321 lakh crore during this period.

Siddhartha Khemka, Head – Retail Research, Motilal Oswal Financial Services, said that the recent spike in US Treasury yields has been taking a toll on equity markets globally, turning investors cautious in the near term. On Wednesday, the 10-year US Treasuries yield reached 4.88%, the highest since 2007, before receding below 4.8%. When the safe and secure treasury yields rise, equities' risk-reward ratio becomes less attractive for investors. Bond yields across Europe, Japan and Australia also jumped significantly higher, which prompted investors to exit equity assets.

"This along with persistent FIIs selling has pulled the Nifty down by 4% from a recent high of 20222 levels. We expect weakness to persist in the market in the coming weeks till the headwinds recede," added Khemka. FIIs had pulled out over $2 billion from the local market last month and have been net sellers so far this month as well.

Vinod Nair, Head of Research at Geojit Financial Services said that the strong US job data is reinforcing Fed's hawkish stance and multi-year high US bond yields is signalling an impending interest rate hike.

Going ahead, market movement will depend upon the combination of global/local macros and earnings delivery along with management outlook. Market participants are also closely watching the RBI's upcoming monetary policy announcement.

'Rising commodity prices a huge challenge'

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

RISING commodity prices have emerged as a huge challenge, but it cannot be solely controlled by government intervention, a top government official told TNIE.

According to the official, critical commodities affected by ongoing conflicts in Russia and Ukraine, fertilizers, gas, and oil stand out as key imports contributing to the prevailing concerns.

"At current level, the fiscal situation is manageable, but beyond this, it will get difficult to meet fiscal targets," said the official.

He said that it is a complex situation which can't be solely controlled by governmental interventions. "The recent resurgence of prices, albeit gradual, after a previous decline has sparked apprehension, although they still remain lower compared to the previous year. However, we have accounted sufficiently for such fluctuations in the budget, providing a buffer for the time being," the official who didn't wish to be quoted said.

Recently, the Reserve Bank of India in its report had also flagged the high crude oil price (above $90 a barrel) as a potential risk to global financial stability. Meanwhile, this newspaper had recently reported about Russia resuming fertilizer trade with the United States, consequently halting the discounts the country was previously giving to India.

The shift in trade dynamics is likely to put pressure on the government's expenditure on fertilizer subsidies as Russia is a major exporter. India had previously reaped benefits after the Western countries imposed sanctions on Russia following its invasion of Ukraine. According to the official, the government won't be able to meet its disinvestment target for the current fiscal but the non-tax revenue in the form of dividends from the public sector undertakings and the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) will offset the deficiency.

RBI report flags high crude oil price as a risk

Recently, the Reserve Bank of India in its report had also flagged the high crude oil price as a potential risk to global financial stability. It was recently reported that Russia resuming fertilizer trade with the US, consequently halting the discounts the country was previously giving to India.

High crude price could create organised chaos: Puri

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

PETROLEUM and Natural Gas Minister Hardeep Singh Puri on Wednesday said that rising crude oil prices could create organised chaos and devastation in several parts of the world. The minister, in an interview with a news channel at the ADIPEC oil and gas conference in Abu Dhabi, said that the price of $100 a barrel of oil is not in the interest of either the producing countries or the consumers.

"If the price goes above $100, it is not going to be in the interest of either the producing country or anyone's interest. You will have large, organised chaos," said the minister in an interview to a news channel.

As the major oil producing countries including Saudi Arabia and Russia announced reducing its production, the crude price in the international market went up significantly. Saudi Arabia announced on October 4 that it would continue oil supply cuts of 1 million barrels per day (bpd) and Russia too, has agreed to continue its current export cuts of 300,000 bpd until the end of 2023. Last week, the Brent Crude Future touched 7-month-high $97 a barrel.

The minister said that the prices of around $80 per barrel or slightly less than that would be a convenient price range for countries. The minister also warned that high oil prices could again lead to similar economic turmoil as witnessed in 2008 when crude reached $134.3 per barrel (from $93.60 in January 2008).

Torrent Investments moves SC against Reliance Cap's resolution plan

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

IN a last-ditch attempt, Torrent Investments has moved an urgent plea at the Supreme Court to get a stay against approval of IIHL's resolution plan for Reliance Capital.

In a plea filed before the apex court on 3 October, Torrent Investments has sought the court's intervention for an urgent hearing and final disposal of its pending appeals that had challenged the second round of auction for the sale of Reliance Capital assets.

Torrent Investments in its plea before the court has said that during the pendency of its appeals before the Supreme Court, the Committee of Creditors (COC) of Reliance Capital not only conducted the second round of auction, but also approved the resolution plan of IIHL and proceeded to file a plan approval application before the NCLT.

In the second round of auction for Reliance Capital held on 26 April 2023, Hinduja Group's IIHL was the sole bidder, and it made a cash bid of ₹ 9,700 crore.

Torrent Investments decided not to participate in the auction.

Lenders are expected to receive about ₹10,200 crore (apart from IIHL's ₹9,700 crore, lenders would receive ₹500 crore in cash balance with Reliance Capital) against their total admitted claims of ₹16,000 crore, resulting in 65% recovery for the lenders, sources said.

Attempt to stop NCLT from considering IIHL plan

Torrent had earlier attempted to prevent NCLT from considering the IIHL resolution plan, but the Supreme Court on 25 August refused to stay the proceedings before the NCLT. In the first round of auction, Torrent Investments had offered to pay ₹8,640 cr, while IIHL had put a bid of ₹8,110 cr. But both the amounts were far below the liquidation value (₹13,000 cr) of Reliance Capital.

'One-third of investment advisors are unregistered'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

AT least 35% of the 1,300-odd Association of Registered Investment Advisers (ARIA) members do not follow basic disclosure norms, Sebi Chairperson Madhabi Puri Buch said on Wednesday.

Addressing the ARIA, Buch urged the association to be proactive in addressing the "wide level of malpractices".

"I want a million good investment advisors... Why not foster an ecosystem where good advisors make more money than the bad ones? Please help us help the good guys win and stop the bad guys from continuing their malpractices," she said.

"Your structure is such that you believe more in circumventing the regulations than following them. In fact, you are vastly off the regulatory path," she added.

On the recent interest in the EV-5 visas -- which allows an investment of $0.5 million or more and one can get easy residency visas in many western countries -- Buch said this is the riskiest form of investment that she knows of as the chance of getting the principal is almost nil as these have a long-term tenor running into 5-7 years. This is a product regulated by nobody today, she said.

Superdry to sell its IP assets to Reliance Retail

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

RELIANCE Brands Limited (RBL), through its wholly owned subsidiary in the United Kingdom (RBUK), on Wednesday signed an agreement to enter a joint venture with UK-based apparel and lifestyle brand Superdry PLC.

The JV entity will acquire Superdry's intellectual property assets for the India, Sri Lanka, and Bangladesh territories. RBUK and Superdry will own 76% and 24% of the joint venture entity, respectively. The consideration for the IP is £40.0 million, which is estimated to result in Superdry PLC receiving gross cash proceeds of £30.4 million (approx. £28.3 million net of fees and taxes) from RBUK.

RBL had inked a long-term franchise agreement with Superdry PLC in 2012 and introduced the brand in India.

SHORT TAKES

India enter men's hockey final

India defeated South Korea 5-3 in a hard-fought semifinal to enter the title clash of the men's hockey competition. Harmanpreet Singh-led team was made to toil by the Koreans despite taking a 3-0 lead in the first quarter. India, who won a bronze in the last edition, will be eyeing a repeat of the 2014 Asian Games gold medal.

Squash: On course for best-ever show

India's Saurav Ghosal outclassed Henry Leung of Hong Kong in the men's singles semifinals. The Indian pairing of Dipika and Harinderpal won against Hong Kong to make the final. However, it was heartbreak for the second Indian pair of Abhay Singh and Anahat Singh as they lost to Malaysia.

Sindhu, Prannoy in singles quarterfinals

Two-time Olympic medallist Indian shuttler PV Sindhu and HS Prannoy sailed into the quarterfinals of the women's and men's singles badminton with straight-game wins. Treesa Jolly and Gayatri Gopichand were knocked out in the round of 16 by Korean pair of Kim Soyeong and Kong Heeyong.

Kabaddi: Men & women bt Thailand

India continued their impressive run in kabaddi with both the men's and women's teams thrashing their Thailand counterparts. While the seven-time champions men's team outclassed Thailand 63-26, the women's side prevailed 54-22 in two Group A matches at the Xiaoshan Guali Sports Centre.

Javelin throwers come out on top on a controversy-filled evening as country registers best-ever Asiad show...

Neeraj, Jena throw a fight

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
EXPRESS @ THE GAMES
HANGZHOU

AS the final night of the athletics programme finished at the Hangzhou Olympic Sports Centre Stadium, the heat was almost incendiary from an Indian perspective. On the track, a bunch of Indian athletes in multiple disciplines were celebrating with the national flag. The relay quartet (Muhammed Anas, Amoj Jacob whose stunning second leg secured the gold, Muhammed Ajmal and Rajesh Ramesh) were celebrating with Neeraj Chopra and Kishore Jena, who had finished one-two in the men's javelin.

In one of the most bizarre athletics finals in recent Asian Games history -- this one even outdid the women's 100m hurdles -- officials lost sight of Chopra's first throw without recording his mark. The event had to be stopped for 10 minutes to sought out the confusion. They red-flagged a Jena throw despite it being legal and only reversed that decision after Chopra intervened. Chopra decided to not carry forward his protest because he felt for other athletes. Even before Chopra and Jena had stopped celebrating on the end of a raucous night, the Athletes Federation of India (AFI) started a conspiracy theory. In the middle of all this, Jena was a revelation. He set a new personal best twice, qualified for Paris and forced Chopra to find a higher gear. "Thank you, Jena," Chopra said after the event. "Your throw pushed me to do well."

In all honesty, Chopra's first throw – the second throw of the final -- was well over 88m and would have reduced the final into a non-event. After the officials mucked around, Chopra had to refocus and recalibrate. A throw of 82.38m was okay but it wasn't going to be enough; not even close.

Javelin throwers Kishore Jena and Neeraj Chopra (right) pushed each other to secure silver and gold, respectively at the Asian Games on Wednesday | PTI

One of his strengths is in frontloading events so this was going to be a genuine challenge. In the absence of Arshad Nadeem, this was expected to be a walk in the field; turn up and be crowned. Instead, he had a headache to deal with. In his second attempt, he pushed it to 84.49m. He has had no problems with consistency but for someone whose postcode is 85m and beyond, this would have been uncomfortable. And, so, it showed. Twenty minutes later, Jena, who is from Puri in Odisha, hurled the spear to 86.77m. A new personal best and, more importantly, a question asked. Was his senior going to be up for the challenge? Lesser athletes might have folded but the 25-year-old, as un-Indian as they come in handling pressure and being clutch, roused himself up and sent his carbon fibre spear soaring across the night sky to a distance of 88.88m. A new season best (the officials measured it this time).

Jena, who was a handy volleyball player before his college coach asked him to try javelin because of his height, though, wasn't about to buckle down. When he boarded the flight, he had one thing on his mind -- to punch a Paris ticket. With that secure, a weight was off his shoulder. Now, he wanted to have some fun. Seconds after Chopra's season best, Jena responded with a personal best. 87.54m; it wasn't enough to beat Chopra on the night but it revealed both the depth and the growth story of the sport at the continental level. "Once I did the personal best, I was motivated to do even better," Jena said. "Paris qualification was the first thought, I knew if I did that, then a medal would also come."

Tried for a new record: Jacob

The men's relay team, who had set an Asian record at the World Championships in Budapest, were expected to win gold and they delivered on that. It could have so easily been lost had Jacob not stepped on the after-burners after Anas handed over the baton fifth. After working his way through traffic, he drove around the bend before establishing a substantial lead. Ramesh, in the anchor leg, did what was required to bring home the gold in 3:01.58. "It feels good that we have gold," Jacob, who's called captain in the team, said.

"We tried for a new record but gold without a record is also fine. The aim is fulfilled for the season.

Protest against officials: Anju

Anju Bobby George, senior vice president of the Athletics Federation of India (AFI), listed out at least five instances where she felt Indian athletes were undone. "Annu's (Annu Rani in the women's javelin) first throw wasn't measured either," she told the media. "They measured it after five minutes. Same thing happened with Jyothi, same happened with walking (Manju was served two warnings for technical violation in the last kilometre). I felt M Sreeshankar jumped much better than 8.19m. On one of his jumps they raised a red flag, which I think was not a foul. I don't know what's wrong with their officiating.

"We told Neeraj to protest there itself. Jena's throw was given a foul but his foot was one feet behind. Don't know what's going on here? Neeraj had to throw an extra throw. The measuring officials knew exactly what was happening. Such things can happen once or twice but can't happen continuously. That's why we used to say winning in China is very difficult. We are officially lodging the complaint against the officials tonight itself. The landing was pretty clear. We don't know what they were looking for. This is the Asian Games, it's a big deal. It was deliberate. They are targeting Indians."

Chopra's first throw drama: Here's what happened

AFTER another pair of controversies surrounding India's athletes at the Hangzhou Olympic Sports Centre Stadium on Wednesday, senior vice-president of the Athletes Federation of India (AFI), Anju Bobby George, said this was 'calculated' and used the word 'cheating'. She also said 'they are disturbing our athletes' while not specifying who they were. Here's a detailed look at what transpired during the men's javelin final which prompted this outburst. Swaroop Swaminathan details what happened in Hangzhou...

WHAT HAPPENED?

After Chao-Tsun Cheng, who opened the event, fouled, Neeraj Chopra, second in the order, hurled the spear. It looked like a very good throw and sailed over the 85m mark. However, before any official recording came up on the big screen -- or was registered by the judges -- Abdulrahman Alazemi, third in the list, threw. This led to all kinds of chaos.

WAIT, A LEGAL CHOPRA THROW LED TO A 'NO MARK' AGAINST HIS NAME?

Erm, no, this is where it gets complicated. The officials didn't complete measuring Chopra's throw before the Kuwaiti's throw. There was even a technical issue. As soon as the Kuwaiti threw, Chopra went to the judges' table to query about his mark. As soon as he got no suitable response, he protested it.

Neeraj Chopra

WHAT WERE THE JUDGES' RESPONSE?

The outfield judges huddled together. After a while, the judges returned to their original position. But, in a scene that would be out of place even in school meets, they started going through the grass to find the spot where Chopra's javelin landed. It made for surreal viewing as the judges bent down to see whether they could find a dent to complete the measurement as well as restart the event that had now been halted for 10 minutes.

DID THEY FIND THE MARK?

Shortly afterwards, Chopra decided to give up the ghost as he started feeling bad for his fellow competitors. "Surprisingly, they didn't measure. I am still puzzled," Chopra said. "It was breezy and other athletes were cooling down and it was getting unfair on them. So they offered me a re-throw and I accpeted."

HOW CHOPRA REACTED?

He admitted there was something wrong but stopped short of spreading any conspiracy theories. "It happened with Jyothi (Yarraji), me, and (Kishore) Jena. So there's something wrong but still, we have shown how hard we've worked and won medals. Athletes can get mentally down, even Jyothi was affected."

WAIT, THERE WAS A PROBLEM IN JENA'S MEASUREMENT?

After Jena's second throw, judges had initially red-flagged his throw. However, he had not. Chopra intervened and only then did the officials realised and allowed the measurement to be taken.

Golden joy for Ojas: Aim, shoot, medal, repeat

KALYANI MANGALE @ Chennai

IN compound archery, the distance between the archer and the target is 50m or around 60-65 steps. From that distance, the area that gains you 10 points roughly looks like the size of a water bottle cap. As a Compound bow comes with a magnifying scope, that area may look like an area similar to a normal coffee cup.

For the last 10 years, those 50m and the target sheet, which is spread over some 80cm, have been Ojas Deotale's entire life. And if you ask his father, Pravin Deotale, he would start by saying that's not even an exaggeration.

The school-going kid who fell in love with archery at a summer camp, on Wednesday, secured India's maiden gold medal in the compound mixed team event along with Jyothi Surekha Vennam.

Early in his career, Ojas realized soon that archery was not just a pastime for him. After learning and mastering Indian bow and Recurve archery Ojas decided to shift to Satara. From one end of Maharashtra to the other. "When he was training in Nagpur, he thought to himself that he was lacking somewhere. Then he took a decision to move to Satara and train under Pravin Sawant. At that time, we didn't even know who he was, but we trusted Ojas to make the best decision for himself. The day after Ojas reached Satara, I spoke with Pravin sir for the first time," Pravin Deotale told this daily.

"Once the training started in Satara, he was fully submerged in it. You know how big Diwali is for us, he didn't even come home for that. He celebrated Diwali in Satara. Pravin sir applied Utane (a Mix of Ayurvedic powders used on the first day of Diwali) and treated Ojas like one of his family members. I will never forget that. I am getting emotional even talking about that day. That's what a Guru does for his Shishya."

The compound team event will be held on Thursday.

Ahmedabad, the newest power centre

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN

WHAT trivia links the two opening games of the 1996 and 2023 World Cups? If you answered England v. New Zealand, it's correct but there's a specific link. It's the only times the hosts will not have opened the men's 50-over World Cup since inception. By another quirk, Ahmedabad, which hosted the first game in 1996, will also be the stage for the rematch of the 2019 final on Thursday.

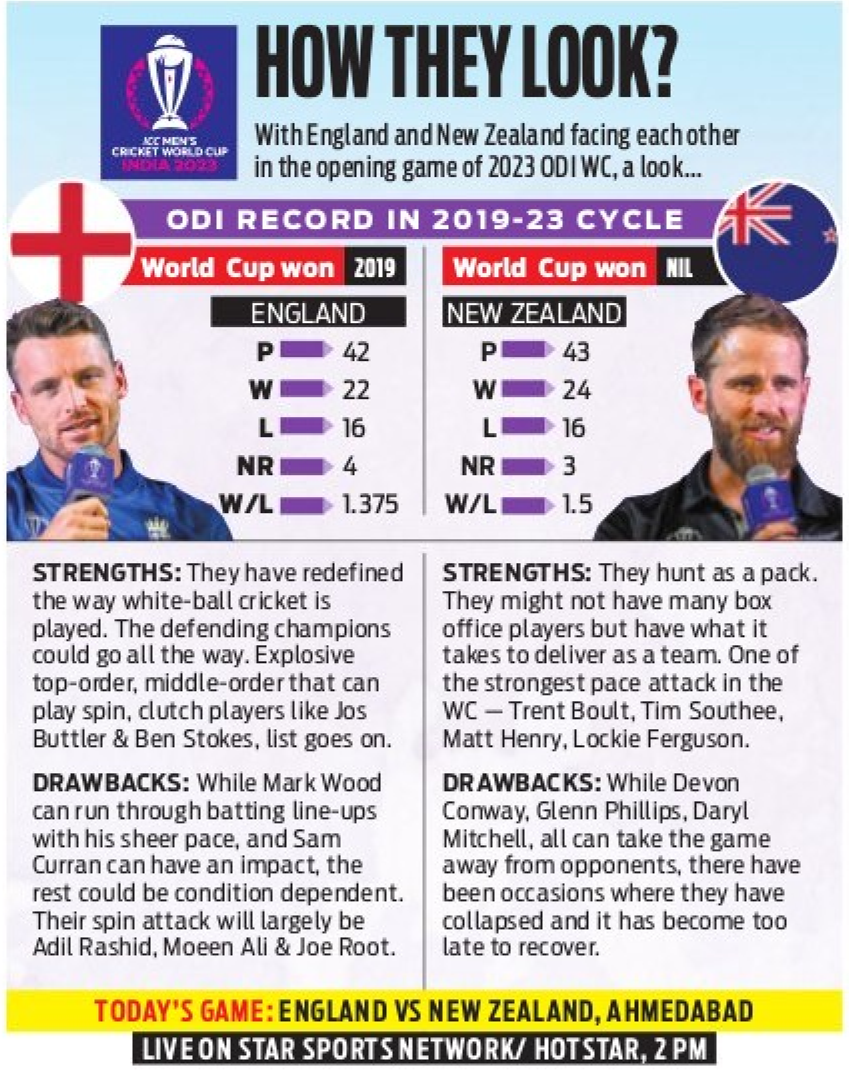
A lot has changed in cricket since that bum-clenching piece of theatre in 2019. That change can also be seen in the venue hosting the opener. Now one of the world's biggest sporting structures in terms of seating capacity, the Narendra Modi Stadium — or Motera if you prefer to stick to the old name — has held a political rally with US President Donald Trump, welcomed the Australian Prime Minister Anthony Albanese for merry-go-round around the ground on the morning of a Test apart from conducting Indian Premier League finals and entire T20I series. In short, the 1,10,000 seater (or 1,32,000 depending on which number you want to believe) has sort of become a multi-purpose venue with international cricket one of the many items on the agenda. It's also safe to say that cricket and politics coexist everywhere including Ahmedabad. Apart from the opening game, the city will also welcome India and Pakistan, England and Australia and the finals itself.

This, in and of itself, isn't surprising. India hasn't had one cricketing power-centre; rather it has moved depending on the people in power. Kirti Azad, cricketer-turned-politician, explains. "Wherever the presidents were from, you had that place featuring prominently. Kolkata (Jagmohan Dalmiya), Chennai (N Srinivasan), Mumbai (Raj Singh Dungarpur and others)... you never had one place, right? The traditional power-centres kept shifting. Basically the presidents would call the shots," Azad tells this daily.

Azad, a three time MP from Bihar who was with the Bharatiya Janata Party earlier, says the politics behind Ahmedabad hosting so many important games is hard to miss. "Earlier, it was the BCCI president who would call the shots. There are five founding members of the Board of Control for Cricket in India. On seniority, they should be getting a match like India v. Pakistan. Not in Ahmedabad. But one of these associations (Mumbai, Chennai or Kolkata)... you can have in Eden Gardens which has been one of the most prestigious stadiums in the world. Going to Ahmedabad shows the political clout that's been used."

Is it possible to view Ahmedabad as a choice just because of Gujarat's rich cricketing history? Yes, according to sociologist and professor Arjun Appadurai. But he caveats that by saying all of that is interlinked to the wider political scheme of things. "Gujarat does have a cricketing imagination," he tells this daily from Berlin. When delving deeper into Ahmedabad's recent tryst with hosting events, he says: "It may or may not be about cricket but it's definitely about spectacle. It's the means of production to spectacle. His kind of MO. The key here is it's not so much cricket or hockey or football but what is the best place to extend the monopoly over (the) production of spectacle. Cricket is a special asset and a low hanging fruit for the production of spectacle."

When the two captains walk out for the toss in a few hours, one thing will be certain. The Narendra Modi Stadium will be the cynosure of most Indian eyes. Whether by chance or by design.



HOW THEY LOOK?

With England and New Zealand facing each other in the opening game of 2023 ODI WC, a look...

ODI RECORD IN 2019-23 CYCLE

	ENGLAND	NEW ZEALAND
World Cup won	2019	NIL
P	42	43
W	22	24
L	16	16
NR	4	3
W/L	1.375	1.5

STRENGTHS: They have redefined the way white-ball cricket is played. The defending champions could go all the way. Explosive top-order, middle-order that can play spin, clutch players like Jos Buttler & Ben Stokes, list goes on.

DRAWBACKS: While Mark Wood can run through batting line-ups with his sheer pace, and Sam Curran can have an impact, the rest could be condition dependent. Their spin attack will largely be Adil Rashid, Moeen Ali & Joe Root.

STRENGTHS: They hunt as a pack. They might not have many box office players but have what it takes to deliver as a team. One of the strongest pace attack in the WC — Trent Boult, Tim Southee, Matt Henry, Lockie Ferguson.

DRAWBACKS: While Devon Conway, Glenn Phillips, Daryl Mitchell, all can take the game away from opponents, there have been occasions where they have collapsed and it has become too late to recover.

DO NOT WRITE OFF WARNER, SAYS HUSSEY

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

AUSTRALIA'S 'Mr Cricket' Michael Hussey wishes to put his money on the team from Down Under to perform well in the 2023 ICC World Cup. Australia overcame Pakistan in the warm-up match with Glenn Maxwell cracking a breezy 77 in his team's creditable 14-run win.

Hussey's confidence also stems from the fact the Australian players are familiar with the conditions in India and also have solid batting depth. In a chat with this daily, Hussey insists that the fact that Australia defeated India last time they played in Chennai augurs well for Pat Cummins and Co. Veteran David Warner may not be at his best, but Hussey cautions one to not write off the dynamic opener. Excerpts:

On Australia's chances

Australia's chances very good. Very strong and deep batting, high quality bowling with some all-round options. Adam Zampa's good but would like one more specialist spinner.

On Cummins as captain and the pace attack

Cummins is a good captain, smart guy, listens to different opinions, not afraid of making difficult decisions. Yes, we have a good crop of fast bowlers, but I believe that the key for success is everyone keeps performing.

On Maxwell's role

Maxwell will be an important player for Australia as an explosive middle-order batsman but also as the second spinner.

On Steve Smith's experience

Haha! Of course very useful, has (Smith) so much experience and plays pace and spin so well. Certainly a key player for us.

On Warner's recent form

Never write off a champion and Warner is just that. His form seems pretty good of late so let's hope he can take it into the World Cup.

OF BUNGALOWS AND BREWS!

Coffee country visits just got more exciting as we discover the Ama Trails & Stays experience in Pollibetta, Coorg...

ROMAL LAISRAM

COFFEE was the mood that reigned in the last few weeks — what with the World Coffee Conference & Expo 2023 that just concluded in Bengaluru and World Coffee Day or International Coffee Day observed on October 1 — the cuppa was everywhere and we coffeeholics weren't complaining one bit! This was also the perfect time for us to head to Coorg or Kodagu — the hill-station where the commercial story of coffee in India began.

Know-it-alls will now feel the need to correct us and say coffee was first cultivated in the nearby Chikkamagaluru district and how Baba Budan Giri was where it all began and we will fully agree; Coorg, however, was where commercial plantations began and that is why even today, South Indian coffee is synonymous with this district — that is the proud homeland of the Kodava or Coorgi people.

Now, most trips to this cool, elevated coffee country would take the preferred route through the capital, Madikeri or Mercara, and would involve a mandatory visit to a coffee plantation, a processing plant and maybe, some shopping along the way. We, however, decided to go deeper into this verdant paradise — to the Polibetta area — home to several of the Tata-owned coffee plantations in Karnataka.

We were there for a curated experience at the estates and also to check out the plethora of offerings from Tata Consumer Products' wide coffee portfolio. Puneet Das (president, Packaged Beverages, India & South Asia, TCPL) introduced us to several of the new formats, including the delectable chukku coffee decoction variants that we are sure will take over the market very soon.

Our stay, however, was organised at one of the many bungalows strewn across these estates that are now a part of the Ama Plantation Trails. One of the newest product offerings from Indian Hotels Company Ltd (IHCL).

We were assigned the Surgi Bungalow, a 40-year-old property in its current avatar, but probably around 150-years old, that is just across the road from Tata Coffee's picturesque nine-hole golf course in Pollibetta. The bungalow's three bedrooms can occupy two individuals each, thus making it a comfortable stay for a family or group of six.

Food is cooked in the bungalow and is catered to by IHCL, so expect high quality and standards, as well as a menu that can be altered for even the fussiest of eaters. We were welcomed that evening with hot cups of jaggery coffee, aloo bondas and an assortment of bajjis and pakodas — perfect eats for the now dropping mercury as the evening chill set in. Dinner was served almost immediately after and was a surprisingly large spread. It didn't take much of an effort to head to bed early that night. Cold weather and full tummies make the best combination for peaceful sleep and the next thing we remember was it was 6 am and our alarms had gone off simultaneously — quite the cacophony to be honest.

Golf course in Pollibetta

We chugged down mug-fulls of coffee and headed out for an estate walk that lasted for over two hours. Picking ripe avocados and smelling a gazillion flowers along the way, this is the perfect time to discover plantations and estates on foot. The air still has a chill and the humidity of the afternoon is far away. There's also a sense of childlike amusement with the symphony of bird-calls and animal chitterings that give you quite the jocund company throughout the walk.

Building up quite the appetite, breakfast was an elaborate affair and thankfully so. Post breakfast, we advise you to do what we did — relax in the well-kempt gardens, read a book or take a quick snooze. Checkout is only at noon and so you have quite a few hours to make the most of this romantic bungalow experience.

The Ama Trails & Stays offer several other bungalow stay options here, including but not limited to Taneerhulla Bungalow & Cottage, Woshully Bungalow, Cottabetta Bungalow and Polibetta Bungalow.

'I DIDN'T WRITE ANYTHING DURING THE LOCKDOWN'

Actor-author Koel Purie Rinchet, who launched a new book, on its development during the lockdown, and her upcoming Zoya Akthar-directorial film, The Archies...

Pic: Shashidhar Byrappa

MONIKA MONALISA

MULTIFACETED Koel Purie Rinchet, who recently turned author with her debut book Clearly Invisible in Paris, never wanted to be an author but 'always wanted to tell stories through acting, writing, and producing'. Her book is about the story of four friends, Neera, Rosel, Violet, and Dasha, who live in the same apartment block in Paris and find themselves intertwined in an uncanny manner.

Having four characters in the book, all of them her creation, Purie Rinchet was extremely careful about keeping them different from her personality. "Each character is an amalgamation of people I know, people I have read about, and people I have hated. It is fiction at the end of the day, but it's based on real life," says Purie Rinchet while chatting about her book.

Although the story was conceptualised before the world went into lockdown, it has the pandemic as the backdrop of the story. "Every good book I have read has been placed against the backdrop of world events. It's a horrible thing to say...sometimes I wish I had lived through the 2015 terrorist attack in France, then I could have set it there because I needed something tense happening for my storyline. In March, we went into lockdown. I can't be agnostic and think that I wished for the pandemic. But it gave me the tool that I was looking for," recalls Purie Rinchet in her typical exuberant style.

Although the pandemic feeds into the story, Purie Rinchet says the core essence would still be 'friendship', even if the pandemic had not happened. "If the pandemic had not happened, I would have created a situation like it. It could have been a war or a terrorist attack. The story is not about that. It is about the connection that these women in the book have," says Purie Rinchet, adding that the course of the story was not affected since she didn't write anything during the lockdown. "I didn't write anything during the lockdown. I was in Paris when the first lockdown happened in Europe, which was very scary. We were not allowed out. There was policing all around. Sometime in October, when it cleared out and we had some curfews, I finished the book from start to finish in six months," says the 44-year-old, who didn't face a writer's block and hopes she isn't jinxing it.

OUT OF THE BOOK

Koel Purie Rinchet will soon be seen on the big screen with The Archies, directed by Zoya Akhtar. She plays the role of Alice Cooper, mother of Betty Cooper, played by Khushi Kapoor. It is set in an Anglo-Indian hill station called Riverdale. Because it's the '60s, it has a hangover from the British Raj. "I play Alice Cooper, a baker who is super sophisticated, someone who smokes and bakes at the same time. The styling is interesting. My character is in love with young Queen Elizabeth II. Parents are the ones who are delinquents, and kids are the good ones who are activists. But it stays true to the comic and true to Zoya. Imagine both worlds coming together," says Purie Rinchet about the movie that also stars Agastya Nanda and Suhana Khan.

SMD INITIATIVE

MEET DR. PAVANA DHANYAKUMAR
India's Hopeful Representative at the International Beauty Pageant

SEPTEMBER 28th marked the crowning of Mrs. India - Woman of the Universe 2023 in the city. Dr. Pavana Dhanyakumar, the winner, was crowned by Veena Jain, Director of Mrs International Super Queen and the National Director for international Beauty Pageants.

Dr. Pavana will be representing our nation, India at the international pageant and hopes to bring home the crown. " Winning the crowning and returning to my homeland will help me support many other causes which are close to my heart. I don't look at this as a single project but a long term commitment towards building a better society," says Dr. Pavana.

According to her, 'Pavana' stands for 'pure' and embodies the elements of purity and humility in her. Hailing from Channagiri, she is a proud mother of two children. "My husband, Dhanyakumar, a renowned real estate developer, has been my backbone, encouraging me to explore my passion," she states.

Her parents, Ratnamala and Kumaraswamy have been her strength since childhood. An engineer by profession, Pavana obtained her doctorate in Wellness and Lifestyle management with a vision to use her research findings to help others.

"I have nurtured an innate passion towards protecting our nature and have taken up this cause on a serious note. I have worked in the renewable energy sector and supported multiple start-ups. I have also devoted a lot of time in rejuvenating lakes as part of the Ecowatch team, led by Akshay Heblikar," she mentions.

Always keeping fitness in mind and complimenting it with the right nutrition under the guidance of Dr. Ramana Krishnan, she has managed to stay on the radar of her health goals.

Hale & Hearty

Rest your way to blissful and pain-free nights with the use of the right pillow

DR PALAK DENGLA

PILLOW TALK

Do you wake up in pain especially during a hotel stay? Extremely soft pillows and mattresses, hamper the spine. The goal of sleeping is to rejuvenate and get rid of the toxicities accumulated through the day. It is shown that 35 per cent of people wake up with spinal pains during their sleep. Sleep science recommends the spine to be in neutral curvature while sleeping, wherein the head, neck and spine fall in a straight line to reduce stress on the spine.

Sleep posture is an example of a sustained physical risk factor that is modifiable.

Right Sleep Ergonomics

Type of pillow: Pillow and mattress ideally should not be extremely soft or hard, it should be firm to support and obliterate the natural curves of the spine and restore complete rest to them. They should not sink in to take the shape of our body. The assisting muscles around should get a chance to come back to their original length which can happen only when we support them instead of pushing them to work constantly due to a faulty posture. A preferred pillow type is a firm cotton or an ergonomic latex pillow of around 10 cm in height.

Position of the pillow: Research on sleep ergonomics shows that the pillow should not only be under the head and neck area, but also should be under the uppermost part of your shoulder blades. Your head should be in neutral position when you lie on a pillow, it should not go for a forward flexion or a back extension.

Additional Pillows

Straight sleeper/supine lying: Add a pillow under the lower neck and upper shoulder area separately, to ease the load on shoulder muscles. Add a squared Turkish towel under the lower back and a soft pillow under the knees to ease the lower back muscles.

Side sleeper: Add a soft cushion/pillow under the thoracic rib cage in side-lying position. This helps in getting a neutral curve at the whole spine, also abates shoulder pain. A pillow can be used between the knees and another one under the top arm, so that you can comfortably sleep like a baby.

(The writer is HOD-physiotherapy, Aster RV Hospital)

THINGS TO AVOID

- Supporting the head with a hand under the head while sleeping. If required, increase the height of your pillow by using a folded towel.
- Keeping the shoulder overhead, it can pinch the nerves of your spine leading to neck and arm pain.
- Sleeping in the same position throughout the night. Keep changing the position every two hours or so.
- Neck should not be forward flexed or sinking back in extension while using a pillow. It should be in neutral position, with well supported spinal arches.
- Strictly avoid sleeping on your stomach/prone lying as research shows that it increases the spinal tissue load drastically, leading to spinal pain.

Yogi

YOGI IS ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT HIS ROLE IN GRAMAYANA: DEVANURU CHANDRU

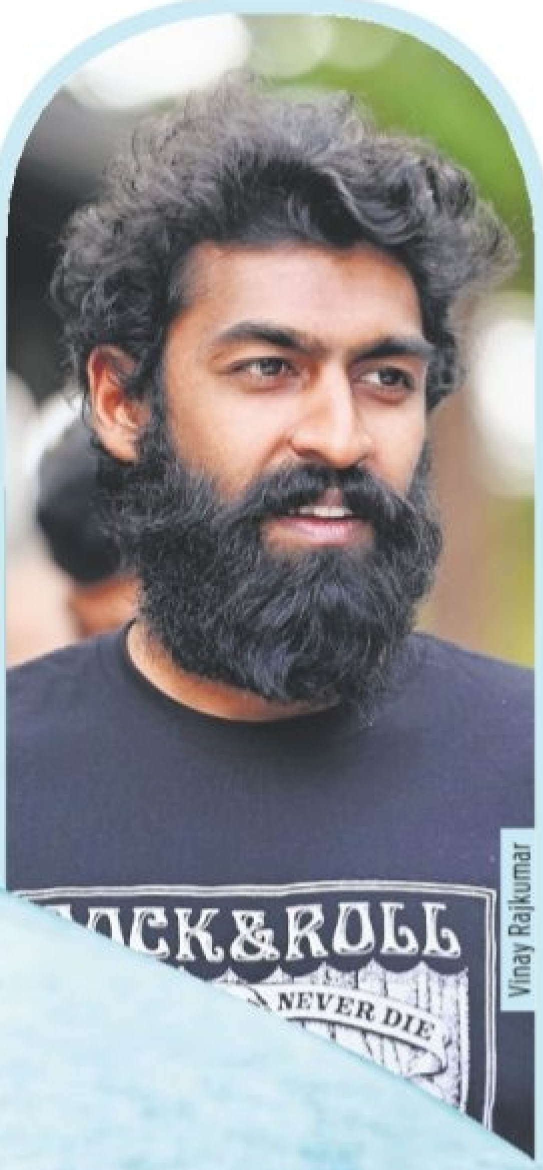
The actor will be joining the cast, which features Vinay Rajkumar and Megha Shetty



Vinay Rajkumar

A SHARADHAA

VINAY Rajkumar's Gramayana, which recently got a relaunch, has an interesting group of actors. While Megha Shetty has been chosen to portray the female lead, the film also stars Yogi in a pivotal role. Gramayana, which marks the directorial debut of Devanuru Chandru, is all set to go on floors in Devanuru on October 6.

"I have known Yogi for the past 15 years, and when I approached him for Gramayana, he warmly embraced the opportunity to be part of the project. Throughout his career, Yogi has consistently stood out for his multifaceted roles, beginning with Duniya and continuing with diverse performances in films like Ambari, Sidlingu, Naanu Adu Mathu Saroja, and his latest, Head Bush. He is an actor known for his versatility and the ability to surprise audiences with his on-screen characters. When it comes to Gramayana, I can't confine him to a specific role, be it an antagonist or a supporting character, but he will be seen in a distinctive character. Yogi is aware of the entire script of Gramyana and is enthusiastic about his role in the principal cast. I can confidently say that his presence in our film will be truly unique," says Devanuru Chandru.

The film is now backed by G Manoharan of Lahari Films and KP Sreekanth of Venus Entertainers, with Poornachandra Tejaswi handling the music composition. Yashwini Anchan will be handling the cinematography, and the art direction will be taken care of by Shivakumar. Set against a rural backdrop, with Vinay portraying a village youth, Gramayana will also feature noted actors Aparna and Gopalkrishna Deshpande in prominent roles.

> I can't confine him to a specific role, be it an antagonist or a supporting character, but he will be seen in a distinctive character. – Devanuru Chandru, director

Hindi dubbing rights of Suri's Bad Manners sold for an attractive price

CE FEATURES

DIRECTOR Suri is known for creating a buzz with his films, and his upcoming film Bad Manners is no exception. The team is gearing up for release sometime this month, and the latest development is that the Hindi dubbing rights for this thrilling entertainer have been sold for an attractive price. While the makers haven't disclosed the financial details, it's said to be a lucrative deal, especially for the budding talent Abishek, for whom this is only his second film following Amar.

Recently, the makers released their latest single from the film on Tuesday, featuring the lead actors Abishek Ambareesh and Rachita Ram, who coincidentally share the same birthday. The romantic track, titled I Love You Medini, has lyrics by Yogaraj Bhat and music composed by Charan Raj, who also lent his vocals to the track, and the song has already garnered millions of views.

The film had previously released three tracks including Saarayi, and Oga Oga, all of which received an excellent response from the audience.

Bad Manners features Abishek takes on a rugged and intense character. The film showcases events inspired by real incidents, marking a departure from Suri's usual style. Produced by Sudhir KM under the banner Studio 18 banner, the film also stars Priyanka Kumar in a prominent role and has Shekar handling cinematography.

Doctor-turned-actor Ratha Kiran to test waters with Abhi Rama Chandra

CE FEATURES

RATHA Kiran, a doctor in Ayurvedic medicine, always harboured a strong passion for acting. He began his acting journey with the release of a single album on PRK audio, receiving strong support from Puneeth Rajkumar. In his debut project, titled Abhi Rama Chandra, he is also doubling up as the producer. Ratha Kiran credits director Suni as the backbone of his acting career. When asked why he chose acting after investing time and effort in becoming a doctor, Kiran says, "Acting was always an aspiration, and I actively participated in dramas and stage plays from the 1st to the 10th grade. While one can practice medicine even after a few years, this was a dream I wanted to fulfill, and I'm delighted that it's finally happening."

The film, which will be released this Friday, is directed by Nagendra Ganiga, and revolves around three friends: Abhi from Kundapura (played by Ratha Kiran), Rama from Mandya (portrayed by Siddu Moolimani), and Chandra from Raichur (played by Natya Ranga). Elaborating on the plot, Kiran says, "Three friends - Abhi, Ram, and Chandra - reside in Bangalore. Abhi's quest to find his childhood love begins when he loses a cherished earring. However, complications arise when Ram also falls for the same girl, leading to unexpected challenges that test their friendship."

Abhi Rama Chandra also features Prakash Tumminad, Veena Sundar, S Narayan, and Chethan Durga. Additionally, there is a cameo appearance by director Nagendra himself, portraying Abhi's childhood friend.

Vinod Prabhakar

Fighter signifies the battle against injustice: Vinod Prabhakar

CE FEATURES

VINOD Prabhakar, proudly carrying his father's legendary name Tiger, is following in his father's footsteps. He started his journey as an actor and relishes the title of an action hero. However, he emphasises that being an action hero involves more than just wielding swords and guns. Vinod aims to make a meaningful impact by delivering a complete entertainment package with his films.

While he garnered praise for his role in the Darshan-starrer Roberrt, he is now geared up for his upcoming project, Fighter, directed by Nuthan Umesh, and produced by Somashekar Kattigenahalli. The film is slated for release this week. "In this context, Fighter signifies the battle against injustice for the family. The film, infused with thrilling elements, explores the bonds of mother-son and father-son relationships, touching the hearts of the audience," says Vinod, adding, "This film sheds light on the challenges faced by farmers, a subject that takes a balanced approach, combining seriousness with entertainment."

While Vinod says that action sequences, especially those at Chitradurga Fort, are the highlights, he also mentions the distinct look he sports in Fighter will make a strong impact.

While the film has Pavana and Lekha Chandra starring alongside Vinod, the actor also expresses his admiration for his co-star and yesteryear actor Nirosha, stating, "When I think of Nirosha, I recall her film Lockup Death, and I'm delighted that she has returned to acting in Kannada after many years."

Lastly, Vinod acknowledges the immense support and motivation he has received from Challenging Star Darshan, who has been with him since the early days of his career. "Darshan's backing has played a crucial role in boosting my confidence and determination," he sums up.

"I CAN'T GO AROUND PROVING MY INNOCENCE TO EVERYONE"

AVINASH RAMACHANDRAN

IT was Muttiah Muralitharan's last Test match. India was nine wickets down, and Murali was 1 wicket short of the magical and never-before-surmounted peak of 800 wickets. Pragyan Ojha walks into the ground to face Murali, who was bowling his 38th over. Sixteen overs later, Ojha lunges forward and nicks at a turner that gets safely deposited into the hands of a cautious Mahela Jayawardene in the first slip. After battling a surprisingly resilient Indian tail, Murali reached 800. "I do believe in destiny. I didn't think I'd be a cricketer. Then, I didn't think I'd turn professional. I thought Test cricket was everything and then T20s happened. Similarly, I didn't think 800 wickets was possible when I walked onto the pitch on Day 1. Then, I didn't think my biopic would happen. How can I not believe in destiny?" asks Muralitharan, whose biopic, fittingly titled 800 is releasing this Friday.

Directed by MS Sripathy, the film has Slumdog Millionaire-fame Madhur Mittal stepping into the shoes of the legendary cricketer. Known for his spin wizardry on the field, and the barrage of controversies off it, Murali's life is a testament to the age-old adage, 'Truth is stranger than fiction.' Interestingly, Murali's only diktat to the makers of 800 was to not fictionalise the truth of his life. "I gave total freedom to Sripathy. He researched for two years before presenting me with the script. All I asked him to do was to not fabricate stories, or give the truth a glossy sheen. We can call 800 a biopic only if we show my story as it is," shares Murali, who is aware of the challenges in condensing a 51-year journey into a film. "Some incidents like the Tsunami and its impact didn't make it to the final draft. If we had to tell every aspect, then we should have gone the documentary route like the Netflix documentary on Michael Jordan. We wanted the film to reach a wider audience, and there is no better way than making 800 into a feature film."

Tsunami might have missed making the cut, but there is no doubt that 800 will talk about the stormy times Murali faced during the 'chucking' controversy. Reflecting on those turbulent times, Murali says, "I can't prove my innocence to people who decide to be narrow-minded even when shown overwhelming evidence. Everyone's life is dictated by technology now, but even then, there are some legendary cricketers who don't believe the technology that cleared my name. Using this technology to prove myself put me out of action for a year. Still, there are people who aren't convinced. But then, I can't go around proving my innocence to every single person."

If cricket controversies are one part of his career, another facet of his career has been how he was the only Tamil player in the Sri Lankan team during the Civil War in the country. In fact, his comments on the war, and its effects, received a lot of backlash for its alleged insensitivity. However, Murali has always argued that his words were taken out of context. But does he feel the need to clear his name? "What wrong have I done to even clear my name? A lot of these are just fictitious tales. You see, I speak from the heart, and there is a lot of context to what I say. I can't be judged based on just one interview or one statement. I am not a leader. I am just a cricketer. Why do you want to give importance to my words?" asks Murali, who puts the blame squarely on social media for twisting his words and blowing them out of context. "There must be decency in criticism. There must be honesty too. Social media doesn't have all this. Vijay Sethupathi had to leave the project because of social media. What wrong did Vijay Sethupathi do? What wrong did I do?"

The legendary cricketer also reveals that he doesn't think his words hold the kind of weight people think it does. "I can only be an inspiration by my actions. My words hold value on the cricket field.
